GRAND JURY CALLED TO MEET TUESDAY IN SPECIAL SESSION

Meeting Called by Foreman Lewis H. Beck, but He Declined to Say What the Jury Will Investigate

WILL FELDER'S CHARGES BE SIFTED BY JURY?

Chief Beavers Silent—Colonel Felder Not Informed About Meeting, but Says It's Matter of Indifference to Him

A special session of the Fulton county grand jury has been called for next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, the purpose of which is unannounced and unknown.

The call was issued by the foreman, Lewis H. Beck, who declines to state what matters will be considered by the grand jury. The impression is general that Foreman Beck has yielded to the demands of Police Chief James L. Beavers that a searching probe be made into the charges preferred by the city detectives against Colonel Thomas H. Felder, involving an alleged attempt to bribe Secretary G. C. Febuary to take certain papers from the safe of the chief of detectives, and also to thoroughly inquire into Colonel Felder's counter charges that the police and detective departments are corrupt and are affording protection to disorderly houses and gambling resorts.

NOT THE PHAGAN CASE.

Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey gave out the first information that the grand jury had been called in special session, but stated that he did not know why nor what for. He did not think the called session would consider any phase of the Phagan murder case, although some persons were inclined to believe the grand jury might take up the confession of James Conley, the negro sweeper. However, if this were true Solicitor Dorsey would certainly know about it ,for it would be he that would bring this matter to the grand jury's attention.

Chief Beavers only smiled when questioned concerning the special meeting of the grand jury. He would not say whether he was advised concerning it or whether it had been called at his instance. The chief's attitude strengthens the belief that the grand jury is preparing to investigate the charges of the city detectives and the counter charges of Colonel Felder.

COLONEL FELDER PREPARED.

Colonel Felder stated that he had no knowledge of a special session of the grand jury. "I am perfectly indifferent whether an investigation is made into the charges against me and into my charges against the police and detective departments," said he, "but I am fully prepared for such an investigation if one is held."

The charges against Colonel Felder grew out of an alleged dictographed conversation between Colonel Felder, A. S. Colyar and G. C. Febuary, the secretary to Chief of Detectives N. A. Lanford. According to these alleged dictographed records and to affidavits made by Messrs. Colyar, Febuary and George M. Gentry, the stenographer who took the conversation down in shorthand, the discussion between Colonel Felder, Colyar and Febuary related to alleged instructions whereby Colonel Felder was to see to it that they (Colyar and Febuary) were paid the sum of one thousand dollars for the delivery of the Coleman affidavit and other papers in the Phagan case.

Colonel Felder, in his reply to the published affidavits and alleged dictographed conversations, scathingly arraigned the police and detective departments and referred to Chief Lanford as the "Lieutenant Becker of the Atlanta police department."

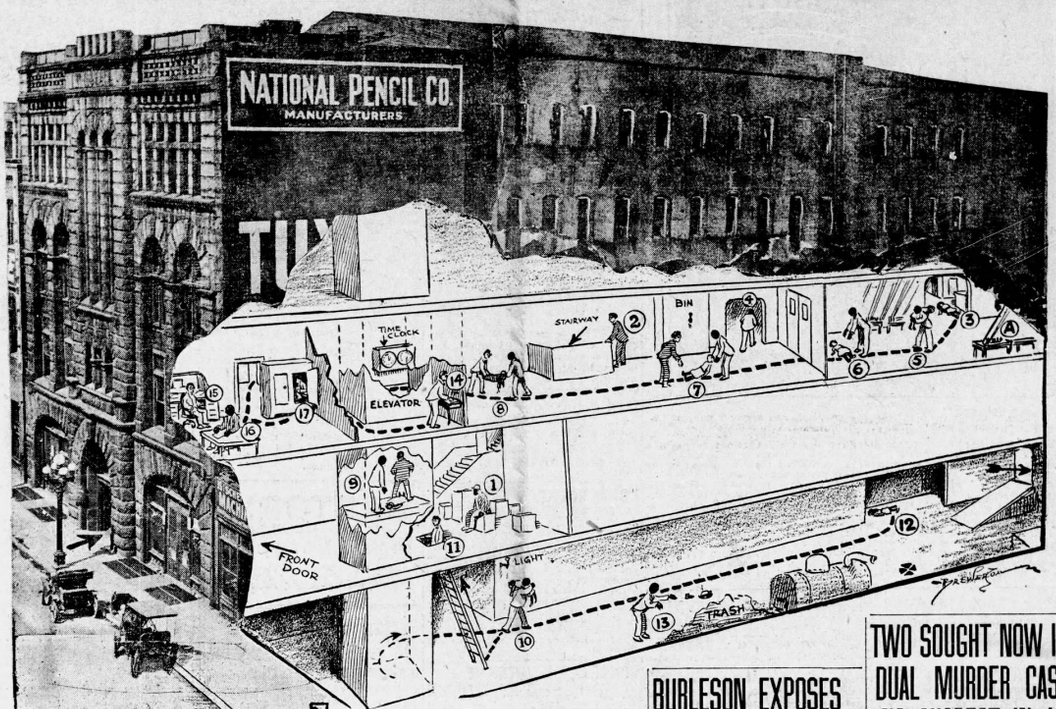
GRAPHIC DIAGRAM OF NEGRO SWEEPER'S EXPLANATION OF MURDER MYSTERY



In numerical sequence the reader can follow on this diagram the movements of the negro sweeper, Jim Conley, at the National Pencil factory on the day of Mary Phagan's murder, as the negro described them to the police and then re-enacted them before the eyes of the police at the factory itself. (1) Conley sits dozing and half-sodden with whisky and beer on boxes beside stairway in gloom. (2) He answers Mr. Frank's call and Mr. Frank meets him at the head of the stairs and sends him back to (3) to pick up the girl who has "hit her head against something." Beyond the girl's body is the women's lavatory. "A"—machine where strand of hair was found Monday after the murder. (4) Negro goes after crocus bagging to wrap body in. (5) Carries body toward front on his shoulder. (6) It slips from his shoulder and falls to the floor. (This is the spot where workers in the factory noticed blood two days later when they came back to work, and where detectives chipped wood from the floor for analysis). (7) Mr. Frank, having come to help the negro after he dropped the body, is so nervous himself that the fact slip from his hands and fall to the floor. (8) They carry the body down to the elevator. (9) They descend on the elevator, Mr. Frank running it, standing astride the girl's feet. (10) The negro shoulders the body again, Mr. Frank climbing the ladder to the trap door (11) to watch the entrance and the basement both from there. (12) The negro puts the body down around the corner at the partitioned end. Cross marks where Newt Lee was standing with his lantern when he spied the body, over twelve hours later. Arrow points to back door, found closed, with hasp pulled out and the lock in it. (13 Negro throws girl's hat and ribbon and shoe, and the stained crocus sack upon trash pile in front of furnace, at Mr. Frank's direction. Then negro runs elevator back up, Mr. Frank jumping aboard as car passes street floor and both emerging at second floor, Mr. Frank going around behind elevator to sink (14) and washing hands there. Time clock that faces elevator shaft is shown through it. (15) Mr. Frank sits at desk, and (16) negro sits at table, writing notes. They hear some one coming, and negro is hid in wardrobe (17).

BURLESON EXPOSES FALSE ECONOMY OF HITCHCOCK'S REIGN

"Unjustifiable Methods of Bookkeeping," Says Probe Report, Showed Surplus When There Was Deficit

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Charges that Frank H. Hitchcock, as postmaster general during the Taft administration, made misleading reports involving almost $1,000,000, that he withheld promotions, allowed vacancies to go unfilled to the detriment of the service, and made a deficit of $750,000 appear to be a surplus of $200,000, were set forth in a report received today by Postmaster General Burleson.

The allegations are made by a committee composed of Daniel C. Roper, Joseph Stewart, A. M. Dockery, James I. Blakslee and Merritt O. Chance, respectively, first, second, third and fourth assistant postmaster generals and chief clerk of the department. Their review covered the whole record of the department during the last four years.

It is charged that unjustifiable methods of bookkeeping were used by Mr. Hitchcock in order to show a supposed surplus. It is also asserted that he failed to fill vacancies, postponed promotions, and withheld the letting of big contracts until the very close of the administration for the purpose of keeping down expenses and swelling the false "surplus."

LAST SURPLUS IN 1883.

One of the foremost claims of Mr. Hitchcock was that the deficiency of approximately $17,500,000 in 1909 had been entirely eliminated and that a surplus of more than $200,000 was attained during the fiscal year of 1911. Refuting this claim, the committee declares that there has not been an honest surplus since 1883 and that the Hitchcock "surplus" was in reality a deficiency of approximately $750,000. Actual figures are given to substantiate the contention.

"The all-absorbing program of the last administration was the placing of the postoffice department on a paying basis," says the report.

"The policies pursued in the effort to succeed at this plan were overworked and resulted in defective administration and just criticism on the part of the public.

"That efficiency and economy should be substituted for wastefulness and extravagance needs no argument, but the postal service affects so vitally the interests of the entire population of the country that economy which means a curtailment of postal facilities operates as a check to the social and industrial

TWO SOUGHT NOW IN DUAL MURDER CASE; NO SUSPECT IN JAIL

Chief of Detectives Lanford Enters Case—Wade Stevens and Boy Friend Are Released—Two Negroes Hunted

That two men were responsible for the murder of Mrs. Stevens and her adopted daughter is the theory of Newport A. Lanford, chief of the Atlanta detective force.

The murder mystery on the McDonough road, where Mrs. Sarah Stevens and her adopted daughter, Nellie, were incinerated in their home last Tuesday night, is being probed by Newport A. Lanford, chief of the Atlanta detective force, and men of his staff.

Chief Lanford drove out to the scene of the crime Saturday morning and began his investigation. Sheriff McCurdy, of DeKalb county, already has made progress in the mystery.

CHIEF LANFORD'S THEORY.

Chief Lanford bases his theory on the finding of the axe and hoe near the front of the ruins of the fire, nearly twenty feet from the kitchen, where they were kept usually.

The chief, Sheriff McCurdy of DeKalb county, and Detectives Bass Rosser, of the Atlanta force, made a thorough examination of the ruins of the Stevens home and the surrounding country Saturday morning. Sheriff McCurdy explained in detail to the chief just where the bodies of the two women and the things in the house were found.

The axe, the hoe and all locks and keys which the Peavy brothers, neighbors of the Stevens', discovered among the ashes, were brought to town by Chief Lanford. These have been tagged and will be held for future reference.

The chief says that he believes the murderers were two in number because the axe and the hoe were found near the room in the south end of the guins, where the two women slept and where their bodies were found. He thinks they were dropped there by the murderers.

TWO DOORS UNLOCKED.

The two men, he says, probably entered the house by the door to the room next the bedroom of the women. The door from the women's room leading to the porch is believed to have been locked, as the lock to this door, found in the ruins, was fastened.

The lock to the room next the women's room was unfastened, a circumstance which leads the chief to believe the murderers made their entrance this way. The kitchen door also was unlocked, and the chief says that the two men probably made their way from the second room into the kitchen, thence going down the hallway to the room of the women.

Chief Lanford's theory lea ot the inference that Walter Wilkes and Er-

CONLEY GOES OVER HIS STORY WITH SOLICITOR DORSEY

Negro Brought From Tower and Questioned by Solicitor in His Office for Over Two Hours Saturday

CONLEY MAY TELL HIS STORY BEFORE FRANK

Negro's Attorney Is Willing, Conley Put Back in Police Station for Further Questioning by City Detectives

James Conley, the negro sweeper at the National Pencil factory, who on Friday made a detailed confession in which he admitted assisting Superintendent Leo M. Frank to take the body of Mary Phagan to the factory basement on the afternoon of Saturday, April 26, and also admitted that he wrote the notes found by the body, was interviewed for more than two hours Saturday by Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey, who led him over his confession point by point.

The negro was brought from the jail to Solicitor Dorsey's office in the court house by Newton Garner, a deputy in the solicitor's office. Chief Lee Bates Chief James L. Beavers was present during the interview and for a part of the time Attorney W. M. Smith was also present. It is presumed that Mr. Smith is to be retained by Conley. However, when he emerged from the conference he stated that he had not yet been employed to represent the negro.

During Saturday morning Chief Beavers conferred with Sheriff C. W. Mangum. Neither would give out the subject of the conference, but it is understood that Chief Beavers was seeking to arrange a meeting between Superintendent Frank and the negro Conley, so that the latter may recount his confessions face to face with the indicted superintendent.

SHERIFF'S POSITION.

After the conference Sheriff Mangum announced that his attitude toward Frank and Conley remained as it had been. These prisoners, he said, like all others in the jail, are under his protection, and he will not permit any one to see them unless they and their attorneys were willing.

The negro Conley declared Saturday that he was anxious to face Frank and go over his story in the latter's presence. It is generally believed at the court house that Solicitor Dorsey, Chief Beavers and other officials are desirous of having Frank and his counsel, Attorney Luther Z. Rosser, with a view to bringing Conley and Frank together. This report has not been verified, however.

Harry Scott, the Pinkerton detective who is working on the Phagan murder case, stated Saturday that it was too late now to arrange a meeting between Frank and the negro. "I do not think it would be advisable now," he said. "Mr. Frank's attorneys have had time to coach him as to what to say and how to act if he is confronted with Conley."

When the solicitor finished questioning Conley he was transferred to police headquarters, where he had been until Friday, when he was sent to the Tower on an order of Judge Roan. The reason for placing the negro back in the police station is not known, but it is probable that the detectives want to question him further or they desire to keep him from being further interviewed.

NO QUESTION HIM FURTHER.

It is learned that the reason for Conley's removal back to police headquarters was that Chief Beavers, after listening to Solicitor Dorsey interview with the negro, desired that he be taken back to headquarters for a further quizzing by the city detectives who obtained his confession from him.

The negro was taken back to police headquarters with the understanding of Solicitor Dorsey and of his counsel, Attorney W. M. Smith. Mr. Smith states that he is quite willing for the negro to confront Frank with his confession.

Solicitor Dorsey would give no information about the result of his questioning of the negro. It was understood, however, that the state's theory of the murder has not changed and that Conley will be indicted as an accessory after the fact.

READY TO PAY PENALTY.

"I have told my story now; let Mr. Frank tell his," says James Conley, the negro sweeper who has confessed to having assisted Superintendent Frank to carry Mary Phagan to the basement of the National Pencil factory and to having written the notes found by the body, which, he says, he did at the dictation of Frank.

Through the bars of his cell in the Tower Saturday morning Conley recounted again the detailed story he told the detectives on Friday, when he went to the pencil factory and pantomimed his movements on the day of the murder.

"I know I will be either hanged or get a life sentence," he remarked, "but I am prepared to take my medicine. I wrote the notes and I helped carry the body to the basement, and I know they can punish me for that. When the judge calls me up before him I am going to ask him not to ask me any questions, but to simply sentence me. If it's to hang, I'll stick to my story, and if it's life imprisonment, there'll be no change. It makes no difference what the sentence is, I'll have nothing to add and nothing to take away from the statement I made to the detectives.

WANTS TO FACE FRANK.

"Mr. Frank will have to answer for the actual murder. I don't know anything about that. The girl was dead when I saw her. I wish they would let me face Mr. Frank and tell him just what I have told the detectives. One of us would go down and it wouldn't be me. I would also like to see Mr. Frank and ask him why he had not given me that money he promised me.

"I feel good since I have told all I know. I did wrong to write the notes and help take the body to the basement. I shouldn't have done that, and I wouldn't have done so if I had thought

DARDEN WILL SERVE HIS THREE-YEAR TERM

Slayer Declares There Is No "Unwritten Law" in Georgia

Just before he left Atlanta Saturday afternoon to begin a three years' term in the Georgia penitentiary, Milledgeville, for the slaying of C. M. Goddard, Elmer T. Darden made sarcastic announcement that he was a living example of the fact that there was no "unwritten law" in Georgia.

"I am going to serve my time without further legal quibbling, to demonstrate to the people of Georgia that there is no unwritten law in this state. The sanctity of a man's home, apparently, is not considered," said Darden as he left the court house in the custody of Deputy Sheriff Plennie Minor.

As Darden spoke his lip curled, and he commented bitterly upon the trial which sent him to the penitentiary for manslaughter.

"No," he said, "I instructed my attorneys to abandon the motion for a new trial that has been made for me. I want to serve my time now if everybody looks at my act in killing Goddard like that. I would rather serve thirty years than three if I deserved it."

Darden's motion for a new trial was overruled formally a week ago at his own request.

Darden killed Goddard, a resident of Lithonia, in the waiting room of the Union station several months ago, and asserted that the latter had ruined his home, and boasted of the fact to his neighbors.

JAPS TO SEND ANOTHER PROTEST TO LAND LAW

Second Note on California Anti-Alien Land Law to Go Forward Soon

(By Associated Press.)

TOKIO, May 31.—Another note from the Japanese government dealing with questions arising out of the recent California land-owning legislation is soon to be forwarded to Washington.

The idea that the United States has not said her final word is prevalent here and it is predicted in government circles, by inference, that no official action is to be initiated yet by Japan.

The formal organization of a Japanese association in the United States to cooperate with the Japanese government is greatly favored here and the object of the members of this association when it is formed, will be to reach a permanent solution of the difficulty by means of a new treaty or by a change in naturalization laws.

Burleson Probes His Predecessor

Postmaster General Albert S. Burleson, at top, and his predecessor, Frank Hitchcock, below. Mr. Burleson's aides have disclosed Mr. Hitchcock's false economy practiced in the postoffice department during his term as postmaster general, and have shown that his claimed surplus of $200,000 for 1911 was in reality a deficit of $750,000, almost $1,000,000 difference.

NO AGREEMENT REACHED ON PRICE OF CREMATORY

Destructor Company Declines to Reduce Price, So City May Pay $276,000

Members of the council finances committee, representing the city, and Evins & Spence, attorneys for the Destructor company, held a protracted conference Saturday morning in an effort to agree on a price for the new crematory. At 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon they were still negotiating and had not agreed. The city's representatives want the company to reduce the price, which was $276,000 in the contract set aside by the supreme court, in consideration of being paid cash. The company is unwilling to make any discount for cash, claiming that a large slice of its profits already has been eaten up in extras required by the city engineers, and further claiming that since the city was to pay 6 per cent interest on deferred payments under the contract, that itself was the equivalent of cash, or nearly so.

It is practically certain that the city will buy the plant and pay what it contracted to pay, $276,000. Of this amount $125,000 is in the budget already. To raise the balance will necessitate stopping most of the special projects undertaken by the city, or contemplated to be undertaken this year. But council members realize that the city is morally, if not legally, bound to buy the crematory, and that the supreme court's ruling leaves no other way out of the situation than to pay the whole amount of the price this year.

Since the supreme court has held the original contract to be illegal, because it carried over a debt to next year's council, an entirely new contract will have to be made, and City Attorney Mayson advised that an outright purchase of the plant for cash is the best way out of the situation.

But in order to do this, all other special work now in progress and all in contemplation will have to be stopped, as the city is embarrassingly short of funds.

Councilman Humphrey, chairman of the finance committee, wants to lease the plant for the balance of this year at a nominal rental, and take an option to buy next year, with the proviso that the rental shall apply on the purchase price.

City Attorney Mayson's opinion is that this would be legal, but not advisable. New members of council, as he points out, might not feel under the same obligation to exercise the option and purchase the plant, with the result that the whole fight would have to be gone over again.

Other members of the finance committee, and Mayor Woodward also, are willing to make sacrifices in order to purchase the plant outright for cash, but they insist that the Destructor company should discount the price if this is done.

To this the company demurs, according to Evins and Spence. They contend that the city agreed and contracted to pay $276,000 for the plant, and that simply be-

PELLAGRA CAUSED BY BAD DRINKING WATER

Italian Authorities Declare Flint Stone in Colloidal Solution Causes Disease

(By Associated Press.)

ROME, May 31.—Pellagra, the mysterious skin disease prevalent in semi-tropical climates which has baffled medical authorities for nearly 200 years, is caused by infected water, according to Profs. Scala and Alessandri, of the Institute of Hygiene in Rome.

The scourge has long been ascribed to the consumption of bad corn, but according to the professors' announcement they have found that in the districts of Italy, where the disease is most prevalent, the water is infected with flint stone in colloidal solution.

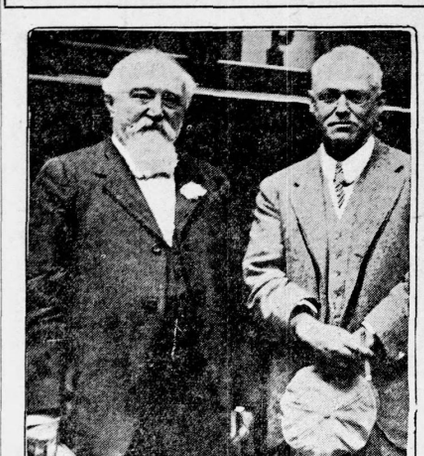
The professors declare that the theory of the maize promaine is altogether groundless. They are endeavoring to induce the authorities to proceed with a thorough examination of all the waters of the infected districts and rid Italy of a plague which claims 50,000 cases annually.

The professors have found that the infected water may easily be made safe for drinking purposes by putting into it a quantity of carbonated chalk.

In the United States, a commission whose work has been made possible by a gift of $5,000 from Colonel Robert M. Thompson, of New York, and John H. McFadden, of Philadelphia, has been at work for over a year in a study of the cases of pellagra in the southern states. The commission's final report is yet to be issued.

MAYORS GO TO SCHOOL!

They want to learn great lessons in municipal government so that their cities may be better places to live in.



Mayor Blankenburg, of Philadelphia (on left), and Mayor Riddle, of Atlantic City. Photographed on U. of W. Campus.

Madison, Wis., has been seeing something new in college students. Mayors, other city officials, chamber of commerce members and college presidents from the east have been taking a three days' course in government in the University of Wisconsin to learn how to run their own cities.

The most conspicuous of these 100 or more elderly students have been Mayor Rudolph Blankenburg, of Philadelphia, and Mayor William Riddle, of Atlantic City. Business men, lawmakers and educators from Boston, New York and many other cities helped to make a group of freshmen such as were never before seen on the campus and in the class rooms of the university.

Their course of study included lectures on labor, capital, promotion, education, special service, city administration and other topics, with special emphasis on civic improvements.

After his first morning's work Mayor Blankenburg said:

"I've about decided that I'm as ignorant as when I was born. But I know it, so there's hope."

HUERTA IN NO HURRY TO CALL MEXIC ELECTION

Provisional President Gives No Intimation as to When Successor Will Be Chosen

(By Associated Press.)

MEXICO CITY, May 31.—No intimation has yet been given by Provisional President Huerta as to when he will issue the decree calling a presidential election.

It is considered certain that he will not delay for long the formality of issuing an official call, as both houses of congress have passed a measure fixing October 26 as the date.

General Felix Diaz is the only candidate who has frankly entered his name for the election, but it is regarded as probable that he will be met by the opposition perhaps of Manuel Calero, former Mexican ambassador at Washington, and possibly of Francisco de la Barra, minister for foreign affairs, as the representative of the Catholic party.

The tone of a large part of the press and the expressions of opinion of many people, including numerous friends of Felix Diaz, indicate that his popularity has waned and that there is little chance of his election.

"MY BRAIN IS AS GOOD AS THE OTHER FELLOW'S."

The first caller at Campaign Headquarters yesterday morning was a very bright little woman who is going after one of the prizes, in a thorough, systematic manner, and as she says, her brain is as good as the other "fellow's," and she can see no good reason why she will not win. She takes her Catalogue and goes through it from A to Z on each picture and has gone through it now fifty-three times and will go through it seventy-five times, if she lives until the last picture is published, and we believe she will live and we hope she will win a prize, not only her, but all contestants who will study out titles as she is and will exercise all their rights to extra answers.

Now that we have the Answer Book giving you the right to ten answers on each picture and using only one of each picture, there is no reason for any contestant holding down to one or two answers on each picture.

BOOKLOVERS' QUERIES

R., Talbotton. Q. 1. The number of the picture about which J. K., Atlanta, asks is not given. Please tell us and repeat the answer. Ans. J. E.'s question was the same as yours, and was No. 7. It is a man and he has boots on. The dark projection on knee line does not mean anything.

M. G. M., Atlanta. Q. 1. If it is permissible, please state in your daily story whether the man sitting in No. 38 is the defendant or a witness? Ans. Decide for yourself.

Lawrenceville, Ga. Q. 1. Suppose one member in the contest answers all of the 75 pictures in his first answers and another answers them all in his tenth, how would prizes be awarded? In other words, how is the average to be figured out? Ans. The most correct answers, according to the rules, is what will count, not the order in which they are given.

Q. 2. How would the answers be arranged if the same book should be written by two authors? Ans. Use either author's name.

Miss C., Bedford Pine. Q. 1. I read in Sunday's Journal that picture No. 7 was "a man." I would never have suspicion that he was, for I had guessed "A Boy's Ride" for my answer. Please look at No. 7 again and see if a mistake was made in dressing the "object" in short pants. Ans. No mistake made.

SENATE PROBE HUNTING FOR "INSIDIOUS" LOBBY

Judiciary Committee Begins Probe Into Tariff Lobby Which Wilson Exposed

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The senate's investigation of the "numerous and insidious lobby" President Wilson charged was threatening the tariff question will be begun here Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock by a committee composed of Senators Overman, Walsh, Cummins, Reed and Nelson. Mr. Overman will be chairman.

The investigation will be conducted openly and members of the senate will be called in alphabetical order.

The sub-committee considered a tentative list of questions prepared by Senator Overman, but they were not adopted, the committee deferring action until another meeting late today.

President Wilson was sent a certified copy of the resolution authorizing the inquiry and Senator Overman telephoned to Secretary Tumulty the information that the committee would begin work Monday.

"We will not ask the president to come before the committee," said Senator Overman. "What the president wishes to do in the matter the committee will leave to his own good judgment. We hope to conclude the inquiry in ten days, as specified in the resolution. It is our purpose to rush it as rapidly as possible, not overlooking anything of importance that develops.

"EQUITABLE" NAME TO BE CHANGED TO "TRUST" BLDG.

Atlanta's Oldest Skyscraper to Become "Trust Co. of Ga." Building

While the Trust Company of Georgia has for many years owned its own building, the Equitable, it has not seen fit until now to place its own name over the entrances.

But the Equitable building, so far as its name is concerned, is now to become a matter of history. When the building was erected more than twenty years ago it was called the Equitable as the result of an understanding entered into with the Equitable Life Insurance company, when that company made a substantial loan upon it. That loan has long since been satisfied, and there remains no further reason for the retention of the name. Accordingly, the Trust Company of Georgia, in common with other large financial institutions, will henceforth not only have its own building, but will have it under the company's name.

Workmen are now busy chiseling out the name Equitable over the Edgewood avenue entrance and cutting in the new title, "Trust Company of Georgia Building." The same change will be made over the other main entrance on Pryor street, and within the next few days the name Equitable will have passed out of existence, except in the memory of those who have long known the structure.

The Equitable, although erected more than twenty years ago, is a splendid example of the modern office building today. Even in the new structures there are comparatively few improvements which are not found in the Trust Company of Georgia building, in spite of the fact that it was the first office building of its size erected in Atlanta or the south.

GARNISHMENT AND BANK MEASURES ARE WEIGHED

Merchants Want Them Made a Special Order of the Legislature

Local merchants on Friday discussed methods of securing the passage of two bills already endorsed by the retail merchants of Georgia. One affects garnishments and the other the giving of worthless checks.

One bill would amend the garnishment law so as not to exempt altogether the pay of laborers and mechanics. The bill would leave garnishment apply to 50 per cent of all above $1 a day made by such labor.

The courts hitherto have had to distinguish between a person who works with his hands and one whose labor is mental, and the merchants claim that injustice has been done by the law.

The other bill has received the endorsement of the Georgia Bankers' association. It would make it a misdemeanor for any person to draw a check without funds to protect it, unless the drawer of the check makes it good in thirty days.

The retail merchants will meet here on July 21 to 23, and the plan is to have these bills made a special order for July 22. There will be another meeting of local merchants next Thursday.

STATUE AT PRINCETON SYMBOLIZES TRUTH

Unveiled in Celebration of Founding of Christian Student Federation

(By Associated Press.)

PRINCETON, N. J., May 3.—A bronze statue symbolizing the spirit of truth was unveiled on Princeton's campus yesterday, commemorating the founding of the world's Christian student federation, which had its origin in a room in East college which formerly stood where the statue now stands.

Dr. John R. Mott made the memorial address and President John Grier Hibben accepted it for Princeton. Baron Nicholai who is connected with the Russian students' organization; Dr. Halsey, chairman of the Presbyterian board of foreign missions, and Dr. Bliss, president of Beirut college, Syria, made short addresses.

The first move to found a separate student Christian organization was made by William Earl Dodge '79, whose name is mentioned in the inscription. The statue shows an athletic figure of a young man in football clothes, with an academical gown thrown over his left arm and carrying two books, the sleeve of the sweater on the right arm being rolled to the shoulder and exhibiting the harmoniously developed three sided man, and is the gift of an alumnus of Princeton.

A man living at Auburn, New York, had a severe attack of kidney and bladder trouble. Being a working man, not wanting to lose time, nor run up a heavy doctor's bill, he cured himself completely by using Foley Kidney Pills. A year later he says: "It is a pleasure to report that the cure was permanent." He has had no return whatever of the pain, backache and burning. His name is J. A. Farmer, and he says: "I of course, recommend Foley Kidneys Pills as a very effective cure for kidney and bladder trouble." For sale by all dealers.—(Advt.)

STATE HEALTH OFFICER WINS IN ALABAMA SUIT

Montgomery Judge Sustains Official Whose Salary Was Increased

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 31.—By sustaining a demurrer of the defendant Judge Gaston Gunter, of the city court, Saturday held that under the constitution William H. Sanders, Alabama health officer, is not a state official and is not subject to a section of the constitution which says that the salary of a state official shall be neither increased nor diminished during his term.

The decision prevents the state from collecting $2,322.10 from Dr. Sanders which it claimed because the health officer accepted $5,000 a year as salary when he was given only $4,200 when he was elected. Before consideration of the case started the state withdrew all counts in the bill of complaint except No. 3 A, which charged that Dr. Sanders collected money without authority of law.

Dr. Sanders' salary was increased by the state board of health just before May 6, 1911, and the state sued him for money collected between May 6, 1911, and April 11, 1913.

MADDOX FINED $25.75 AFTER LOSING HIS JOB

Sanitary Inspector, and Brother of Alderman, Charged With Insulting Woman

Henry M. Maddox, the city sanitary inspector who was summarily discharged by the board of health Friday afternoon on the charge of insulting Mrs. Charles Kugler, of 15 West Alexander street, was Saturday morning fined $25.75 by Recorder Broyles on the same charge.

Maddox is a brother of Alderman James W. Maddox, of the Fifth ward, and was represented before the board of health Friday afternoon by Attorney Aldine Chambers, the ex-councilman.

The board went into executive session to hear Mrs. Kugler's statement, even excluding the reporters. In recorder's court Saturday morning she made her statement again. It was in substance as follows:

That Maddox came to her home last Thursday to inspect the premises; that they had some little argument as to her garbage can; that Maddox without invitation took a seat on the front porch and began to ask questions about her being downtown, intimating that she met a man other than her husband.

"I ordered him out of the house and immediately caught a car and went to the store where my husband works and told him about it" Mrs. Kugler told the recorder. "Then I went to the police station and reported the matter to Chief Beavers."

Maddox did not deny having questioned Mrs. Kugler, but undertook to explain it on the ground that he meant no insult and was just indulging in a little pleasantry. He said a lower sanitary inspector, by the name of Wright, had told him of seeing Mrs. Kugler downtown.

"My opinion is that this lady's morals need no regulations," said Recorder Broyles, to Maddox. "But if they did, your business is to regulate sanitary conditions, not married women's morals. And this applies also to Inspector Wright, who had better keep his gossiping mouth shut and attend to his business unless he is looking for trouble."

ILLEGAL EXPENDITURE OF STATE FUNDS CHARGED

School Examiner Declares County Superintendent Is Due Alabama $30,879

MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 31.—Sam Ingram, superintendent of education in Blount county, is indebted to the state of Alabama in the sum of $30,879.94, in connection with the salaries paid to teachers in his county, according to a sensational report filed with the governor Friday, by J. T. Gorman, school examiner.

"Mr. Ingram owes the state $28,692.25, paid to teachers whose names he placed on pay rolls without monthly reports from the teachers, as required by section 1739 of the code," reports the examiner, "together with $1,187.69 commission thereon, making a total of $30,879.94. The discrepancies covering three years ending with 1913."

The voluminous report is filed with criticisms of the superintendent on the conduct of his office. The examiner quoted both from the civil and the criminal code regarding the handling of teachers' affairs.

One phase of the report is to the effect that fourteen teachers' names appeared on the pay roll at a certain time, although they did not teach. For this, the examiner states, the county superintendent received $717 although the teacher did not render the services.

Ingram claimed that $327 of this money was for overpay to teachers during the spring and $379 for what he claimed was an "emergency fund to pay teachers whose names might have been omitted from the pay roll."

The attorney general held that this overpayment was illegal.

INSURANCE DEAL TO ADD TO ATLANTA PREMIUMS

Acquisition of Teutonia of New Orleans by Hartford Means Much

Through a deal in which the Hartford Fire Insurance company will take over the Teutonia Insurance company of New Orleans, La., it is expected that perhaps $500,000 more in premiums will be handled each year by Atlanta banks.

The merger was entered last week in New Orleans and become public within the last twenty-four hours. Only the ratification of the stockholders of the Teutonia company is necessary to bring the matter to a consummation. This, it is said, is a formality that will be completed soon.

The negotiations looking toward this deal were made by Egleston & Prescott, of Atlanta, general agents of the Hartford Insurance company. W. R. Prescott, of that firm, recently returned from the Louisiana city and confirms the report that the deal has been made.

As a result of the absorption of this company by the Hartford, a large part of the business of the New Orleans corporation will come to Atlanta. Its premium income last year was approximately $500,000 and fully half, possibly more, will come to this city.

"Opera-goers may find a certain degree of novel charm in the appended picture of three prominent figures at the Metropolitan Opera house, for snapshot photographs of Arturo Toscanini are a rarity. Of the other two musicians in the above group, Antonio Scotti has been such a continuously popular operatic figure that 'kodak fiends' have no terrors for him, while Lucrezia Bori has won such public affection in her one American season that photographers have never been denied the opportunity of reproducing her charms.

"The eminent conductor, on the other hand, has succeeded in eluding the camera to a surprising extent. This may be due to the fact that he is seen less often in public than most of the leading lights of the opera house, being a very busy man and of a somewhat quiet, retiring disposition.

"Thus it remained for Atlanta to 'turn a trick' that New York was unable to accomplish, and it was when the Metropolitan forces were appearing 'en fete' in the southern city that Walter T. Winn, The Atlanta Journal's staff photographer, succeeded in 'snapping' th notd maestro along with Senorita Bori and Mr. Scotti, the three artists being in a most exuberant mood."

CHICKEN THIEF USED CHLOROFORM ON FOWLS

When the modern chicken thief goes forth on his nightly prowlings, all he needs is a bottle of chloroform and a big basket to hold the loot. This was proved Friday night by a roost-robber who invaded the coop of James Morgan, 121 East Georgia avenue.

A call from this house was received about 10 o'clock Friday night. Officers Shumate and Palmer, who answered it hurried to the Georgia avenue residence just in time to see a negro climbing over the back fence. He escaped, but a search in some bushes in the rear of the house revealed a pint bottle of chloroform and a basket of chickens, all fast asleep from the effects of the drug.

GEORGIA CRUSHERS GO TO MEET IN FLORIDA

Sessions to Be Held in Atlantic Beach Hotel Monday and Tuesday

Members of the Cotton Ceed Crushers' association of Georgia, who have gathered in Atlanta from the northern section of this state, left Saturday on a special train over the Central of Georgia railway for Atlantic Beach, Fla., where on Monday and Tuesday the ninth annual convention of this association will be held. Extra cars were picked up at Macon, containing the south Georgia members of the association.

The rules committee met in Atlanta on Tuesday at the call of Chairman H. L. Bond, of Royston, Ga., and formulated the report on the rules under which the association will work during the season of 1913-14.

Secretary P. F. McCarley, of Atlanta, has announced the program for the two days' sessions which will be held in the Atlantic Beach hotel, formerly the Hotel Continental. Following the invocation an address of welcome to the association will be made by H. M. Stanford, manager of the hotel. A response will be made by Vice President B. L. Bond, of Royston, Ga.

President F. W. McKee, of Atlanta, who will preside, will deliver his annual address and will be followed by Dr. Andrew M. Soule, president of the State College of Agriculture, at Athens.

At the afternoon session Thomas C. Law, the Atlanta chemist, will read a paper on "The Quality of Crude Oil," and will be followed by H. C. Brown, of Augusta, with an address on "Proper Grading of Cotton Seed for Manufacturing Purposes." E. E. Pomeroy, of Atlanta, will deliver an address Tuesday morning, and will be followed by Joel Hunter, of Atlanta, on "Fallacies in Seed and Crushing Costs." Dr. Peter F. Bahnsen, state veterinarian, will make the concluding address before the convention, which will be followed by the reports of the committees and election of officers.

The Georgia association is the second largest in the south, and is noted for the enthusiasm which marks its gatherings.

SUGGESTS MEDALS AS MEMORIALS OF CANAL

Atlanta, Ga., May 30, 1913.

Editor Journal, Atlanta, Ga.:

Your article appearing in a recent issue of your paper relative to the Southern Commercial congress invites suggestions for a memorial to commemorate the opening of the Panama canal. I would respectfully submit the following:

A gold medal of appropriate design to be selected through a competition of American sculptors, to be presented to each of the maritime powers of the world.

Silver replicas, to be presented to each state and colonial possession of the United States.

Bronze replicas, to be presented to public museums, scientific societies, universities, colleges, public libraries, stock exchanges, boards of trade and chambers of commerce throughout the country or the world.

The expense of such a memorial may be reduced by making all but the medal of bronze, each series being of a different design.

The advantage of this form of memorial lies in the fact that such a distribution of medals will insure the widest possible interest in the greatest number of peoples; it will be perpetual, as the medals will be preserved permanently in the archives of the various governments, states and institutions to which they may be presented.

Thanking you for the courtesy of your columns, I am,

Very truly yours,

CHARLES R. HARDY.

CHILDREN FROLIC IN UNCLE REMUS PAGEANT

May Day Festival at Snap Bean Farm Proves Pretty Occasion

Scores of children, garbed in colorful costume, romped happily through the May day festival at Snap Bean farm yesterday afternoon, while the spirit of Uncle Remus seemed to hover in tender mood over the galeties.

To the sounds of music a group of little girls in filmy white, carrying flowers and led by Katherine Vickers, May queen, opened the festival with a May pole dance. Grasping the ends of colored streamers of ribbons which dangled from the top of the pole the children darted in and out the bazes of an intricate swirling dance.

From the time of the opening of the festival until it was brought to a beautiful climax with the crowning of the May queen there was not a dull moment. Sponsors of the occasion, the la*dies directing the affairs of the* Uncle Remus Memorial association, announced it the most successful of festivals.

It was distinctly a children's afternoon. The climax of the program of exercises was given over to the little girls and boys who romped and laughed through a score of dances, figures and pageants.

The crowning of the May queen was the most appropriate on the program and proved one of the prettiest of children's pageants ever witnessed in Atlanta. Little Miss Vickers, followed by her retinue of sparkling little girls, marched to a raised platform, where the crowning ceremony took place. Following this all the children took part in the festival danced a closing May pole dance.

Considerable money was raised for the Memorial association, both from the small admission fee charged and from the various things which were sold by the ladies directing the festival.

HOLES IN HOSE CAUSE WATCHMAKER'S ARREST

When Max Singer, a watchmaker, of 309 East Hunter street, is arraigned in police court Saturday afternoon, the technical charge against him will be operating without a license, but as a matter of fact he is there for remarks which he passed in reference to holes in a lady's stockings after she had cast aspersions upon the worn condition of his shoes.

Singer says that he called on a lady on East Fair street Friday afternoon, offering to mend any watches she might have. His kindly offices were not received well, as the lady replied that he had better repair his own before he tried to tinker with watchworks.

According to Singer, he answered the lady with the remark that he was fully aware of the sore straits of his understandings, but that they were no worse than the result that Singer asserted, and later was released under $50 bond. He is charged with operating without a license.

A UNIQUE DISCOVERY WHICH MAKES A FORTUNE

The wonderful recipe which was discovered almost by accident after experimenting with a digestive vegetable recommended by a celebrated French doctor, has brought for a young English miner (who had suffered for years with indigestion) a fortune, and has led to the finding of this wonderful article being brought before the American public. Every house-wife should be familiar with this wonderful Waw-Waw into her household because it adds a delight to her table when used in the cooking, and with soups, salads, hot and cold meats and fish, but at the same time it has had a marvelous digestive effect. Waw-Waw (an absolete South American word for vegetable) is a purely vegetable sauce and contains no raw spices and is guaranteed absolutely pure. Waw-Waw is entirely unlike all other Sauces, and, although in taste it resembles a Worcestershire sauce, the ingredients used are quite different. Half a teaspoonful in a little water before your meals clears the palate and is a wonderful appetizer. People from all parts of the world have testified to its great merits. It is supplied to the House of Lords and Commons, England, and to the principal hotels throughout the world. A 25-cent bottle from your local grocer will convince you how much Waw-Waw can do for food and at the same time see how very easily you can digest anything and everything.

BAREFOOT BURGLAR RIFLES HOMES ON SPRING STREET, TAKING NOTHING BUT CASH

A barefooted burglar entered the home of Nym Hurt Friday night and stole $189 from the inside pocket of his coat. Mr. Hurt is superintendent of the city street department. He lives at 548 Spring street.

The burglar entered by a window on the front porch which happened to be left open Friday night. He slipped upstairs on his bare feet without making a noise.

Mr. Hurt's clothes hung on a chair beside the bed where he lay asleep. He found them Saturday morning downstairs in a front room.

The burglar emptied the pockets on a table where the light from a street arc shone through a window. He took out everything—money, papers, watch, street car tickets, pocket knife, etc.

It was only money that he wanted, however, and he took all of that except 50 cents in a watch pocket of the trousers. The watch he unhooked from the chain, but evidently decided it might betray him if he kept it. So he laid the watch on the table alongside the papers, which he stacked together neatly.

Mr. Hurt arose shortly after 4 o'clock. Missing his clothes, he made a hasty search of the house and found them downstairs in the front room where the burglar left them, and on the front porch he found the barefoot tracks of the burglar. The dust on hi sfeet left a perfect imprint on the polished floor.

Mr. Hurt called up his friend, Cap*tain Tom Davidson, the county chief* of construction, and Warden Moyer, of the federal prison, but it happened that neither had a telephone which he could furnish on short notice, so Mr. Hurt called up police station and got a detective as soon as one could be sent.

"I mourn the loss of my money, of course," said Mr. Hurt to his friends at city hall. "But at the same time I'm thankful for one thing, and that is that I didn't wake up when that negro came into my room. If I had, he probably would have killed me, as my gun was on the mantel and I couldn't have got to it quick enough. How do I know he was a negro? By the track on the porch. There wa sno mistaking the heel."

Meanwhile, when his next door neighbor, L. A. Corker, arose, Mr. Hurt learned that he had heard a noise in the night, and a search of that house revealed the short tracks on the front porch, just like the tracks on Mr. Hurt's front porch.

Another of Mr. Hurt's neighbors, who lives across the street from him, found his front door standing wide open Saturday morning, though he had forgot to close it the night before. But meeting Mr. Hurt on the car and hearling of the burglar he telephoned back to his house, and his wife, making a search, found a front window and screen up, showing that the negro had entered by the window and departed by the door, leaving it open. Here, how*ever, being a strictly "cash" burglar,* he evidently found nothing to suit him, as the house was otherwise undisturbed.

But a third neighbor, Virgil Jones, of 509 Spring, a real estate man, fared similarly to Mr. Hurt. The burglar entered his house barefooted, as shown by a maze of tracks, and stole $26 from Mr. Jones' pocket. The clothes downstairs from the bed room where they hung on a chair, emptied the pockets on a table in the front room, got the cash, and went his way.

JOURNAL READERS DIFFER ON PERCENTAGE PROBLEM

Representative McCrory's School Book Puzzle Interests the Mathematicians

Several answers to the school book problem, recently submitted by C. R. McCrory, of Ellaville, have been received by The Journal, and are published here.

Mr. McCrory wanted to know what the people of Ontario, who pay 59 cents for school books that Georgians buy for $1.75, expend for the number of books which cost the people of Georgia $1,000,000.

In his query Mr. McCrory asserted that Georgians pay 244 per cent more than the Canadians for the books.

A. Morrell, of Greenville, S. C., says that the people of Ontario pay $290,697.67.

J. Pat Richards, a school boy of 452 Bass street, says $381,428.57.

J. M. Stone, of Marietta, says Mr. McCrory's percentage is wrong and from the figures Georgians are paying only 196 per cent more than the people of Ontario.

C. C. Lipscombe, 210 Oglethorpe avenue, says if Mr. McCrory's statements are true, it is because "there are so few Jim Woodwards in office."

Chief in Fact as Well as Name.

The police board is to be commended for its good sense and fair play in making Chief Beavers the head of his department in fact as well as in name. This policy was established at a meeting of the board Thursday night when a majority of its members, all, indeed, except three out of the twelve, voted for the chief's nominee in the election of a sergeant, and in the same connection adopted a resolution to the effect that "the chief of police should nominate the officers under him in his work."

From the justice and wisdom of this principle, no one who understands the needs of efficient administration can well dissent. It is only thus that responsibility in public office can be fixed, and without due responsibility adequate results cannot be obtained. The public looks to the chief of police, as it does to other official heads, for the successful management of his department. He is accountable for its failures and he should be credited, in so far as he deserves, for its success.

But unless he is permitted to appoint the men under him, his hands are tied, for upon these assistants and subordinates he is very largely dependent. Certain it is that he cannot maintain due discipline, if it is understood that he is simply a lay figure and that politics rather than personal merit is the path to promotion. The chief, if he be a competent chief, is better able than anyone else to decide all such matters. He is in close and continuous touch with his men. He is responsible for the smooth and efficient working of his department. He should have a free hand in directing its details.

This is true as a matter of general principle and it is particularly true in the case of Chief Beavers who has proved himself pre-eminently capable and worthy of full confidence. The Atlanta public applauds the fair and well-considered action of the police board.

Apparently the Balkan states were not among those accepting Mr. Bryan's peace plans.

"Instead of Watching Congress."

A recent report by President Finley, of the Southern Railway, on the efforts of that company to promote scientific methods of farming and to foster its own interests by developing those of its patrons, inspires the Washington Post to say editorially:

"Instead of watching Congress and legislation, President Finley has devoted his time to building up the section of the country which is traversed by his railroad, realizing that the prosperity of his road is dependent upon the prosperity of the shippers whom it serves.

"It would be a good thing if other industries would take a lesson from the experience of the Southern Railway Company and, instead of bothering so much about legislation and the stock market, pay more attention to the prosperity and development of the country."

That is wholesome counsel and, if consistently followed by corporations in general, it would go far toward solving many political as well as business problems. There is no conflict between any legitimate business, however large, and any sound government, however progressive. It is only when big business oversteps its rightful province and attempts to run the government for the benefit of particular interests rather than for the welfare of the people as a whole that both business and government get into trouble.

The corporation that minds its own affairs and seeks through efficient methods to increase its earnings and through good service to increase its patronage, has nothing to fear from Congress or any other legislative body; and, what is still more important, it has no special favors to ask. It is truly independent. It deserves the public's good will and receives it. It is a part of the country's creative and progressive forces; its reward and security are assured.

The old-fashioned boy who read dime novels can get the real mysteries right at home.

Prof. Taft, as far as can be learned, hasn't been summoned to testify about his knowledge of the White House mint bed.

And now comes the statement that the dictograph was used in the days of Joseph in Egypt. Can't we have anything really new?

Study This Problem.

A problem that should set every patron and pupil of Georgia's common schools to thinking was impressively stated in a recent communication to The Journal from Mr. C. R. McCrory, of Ellaville. The people of this State, he said, are now paying a dollar and seventy-five cents for the first five text books on reading arithmetic; for five books of the same class, the people of Ontario pay only fifty-nine cents. He then asked this interesting and practical question: If Georgians buy a million dollars' worth of school books each year, what would the same books cost the Canadians?

The first of a number of answers is from Mr. H. V. Casey, of Atlanta, who replies that on the basis given, Ontario gets for three hundred and thirty-seven thousand, one hundred and forty-two dollars and eighty-six cents the books for which Georgia spends a million—a fact which means that our people are charged an excess of nearly two hundred per cent or some six hundred and sixty-three thousand dollars more than those of Ontario.

Is not this matter worth investigating by the school patrons of every community and also by the General Assembly? Is it true, as Mr. McCrory suggests, that they are the victims of a school book trust? Certainly, the people of Georgia are entitled to know just why it is they are having to pay a dollar and seventy-five cents for books which are bought elsewhere for fifty-nine cents.

This difference may mean little to some families but to others it means a vast deal. It may mean little in respect to individual cases but in respect to the State as a whole it means more than half a million dollars annually. Let us have all the facts of this amazing situation.

Love is blind—especially the kind of love that attacks egotists.

Effective Treatment For Window Smashing.

The British government seems at last to have hit upon a well-considered and determined policy toward window-smashing suffragettes. Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, who was released from Holloway jail, where she had starved herself into a serious illness and whence she was taken to a sanitarium, has regained her health. But instead of being permitted to go free, as others like her have been, she has been rearrested and taken back to prison to serve the remainder of a sentence for her destructive and anarchistic acts.

It may be that Mrs. Pankhurst will immediately go on another "hunger strike," and again fall ill. If so, she will again be put under the care of physicians and upon her recovery returned to prison; and this interesting process will be repeated as many times as may be necessary until the demands of the law have been met.

*There can be no doubt that London's militant suf*fragettes have the iron of the old martyrs in their blood; but it is hardly to be expected that any considerable number of them will be willing to spend a lifetime in making themselves sick merely to be cured by stupid doctors and taken prosaically back to jail. They could die for their convictions serenely enough, but can they stand this sort of ordeal?

The end of the matter will probably be that these violent dames of Britain will take better note of the persuasive methods of their American cousins. They will learn that there is more power in brains than in bombs and more power in a fetching smile than in either. If they do, the British government will face a far more difficult task than that of protecting windows and preserving order; even Mr. Asquith would then be ready to give up the fight.

Silence is a difficult argument to beat.

A VISION OF HANDS

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

(Copyright, 1913, by Frank Crane.)

A vision of hands.

God's machines. Man's machines, makers of all other machines. Machines brain-directed, instinct guided, skill incarnate, spiritual symbols.

Hands deft and busy, hands of the old woman sitting in the sun knitting while her mind is elsewhere, the virtuoso's hands like white mice upon the keyboard bringing forth showers of sounds, hands of the violinist feeling for the exquisite edges of tones, of the flutist unstopping melodies, the waving hand of the conductor and the hands of the orchestra moving in military team play.

Hands that speak. Hands of the deaf and dumb spelling words. Hands upraised in amazement, drooped in despair, wrung in anguish, covering the eyes in shame, or the ears to shut out words too dreadful.

Hands instinct with emotion, clasped in friendship, clenched in anger, fisted and shaken in threat, pointing in admonition, fidgeting in irritation, picking in nervousness, held out in welcome, waving in farewells, beckoning, warning, now dancing like butterflies, now quiet in sleep.

Hands moving the pen, clicking the typewriter, operating the linotype machines, setting type, working the printing press.

Hands creative, drawing sketches, painting pictures, decorating walls, carving statues, building houses, making dresses, hats and shoes, weaving, spinning, boring with augers, smiting with hammers, pushing with planes, cutting with chisels, severing with saws, gauging with plumb-lines, measuring with tapes, yardsticks and surveyor's chains.

Hands of them that do the world's dirty work. Hands of the maid who scrubs the floor, of the slav woman mopping the hall in the office building, bleached hands of the dishwasher, strong, red hands of the washerwoman slapping, soaping and wringing the linen, muscular hands grasping the iron, the broom-stick, the mop-handle, the dush-cloth, the pots and skillets.

Hands upon the locomotive throttle, upon the automobile steering-wheel, upon the motorcycle handle, upon the aeroplane gear. Hands which if but negligent or awkward a second would bring death.

Hands drawing back the bow-string, pressing the trigger of the automatic revolver, manipulating the army rifle, loading the eight-inch cannon, swinging the sandbag and the lead pipe, holding the brass knuckles, the dagger, the club. Hands of crime, individual and national.

Hands plying the whip upon little children, the cat-o'-nine-tails upon the naked backs of seamen, instruments of torture upon heretics, scourging the Christ. Hands of hate.

Hands of the surgeon creeping among the mazes of life, feeling the pulse, delivering the child, holding the hypodermic syringe, the lancet, the stethoscope.

Hands of fair women, combing and twisting the hair, powdering the face, pencilling the eyebrows, tying ribbons, patting furbelows, buttoning, hooking, matching, arranging.

Hands plump and baby-fat; hands dry, old, veined, like a tree trunk. Hands manicured and soft as velvet; hands gnarled, twisted, hard as leather. Hands gloved and tender; hands rosy, three-fingered, scarred.

Hands hoeing, plowing, driving, wheeling barrows, handling pitchforks, cleaning stables, digging ditches, making gardens, cultivatin farms.

Hands of mothers caressing the child's cheek, of nurses smoothing hot brows, of lovers diddling palms.

Hands folded in prayer, upraised in benediction, extended in excommunication.

Busy hands, myriad-functioned, spirited-moved, soul-impregnated, the moving semaphores of life.

Swarms of hands, fluttering as birds; beneath them spring up giant buildings, monuments, bridges, railways, the seventy times seven wonders of the world.

Hands at last folded forever across the breast.

At last Death, and the sea of beckoning spirit hands of them that have gone before.

The Ragtime Muse

SPRING MAGIC.

I'm strangely tempted now to go,
Before I seek my pillow,
And in a little hour or so
Find me a bending willow.
Whence I would cut a slender limb
An make a whiste from it,
Then some old dancing tune or hymn
I'd take and overcome it.

Such magic's in a willow pipe
That when I started blowing
You'd see red cherries getting ripe
And hear red cattle lowing.
You'd see pink apple blossoms, too,
And girls with yellow tresses,
And trusting eyes of gray or blue,
And checkered gingham dresses.

And while I kept it to my lips,
That old time music blowing,
You'd feel soft, loving finger tips,
And hear a baby crowing;
You'd hear a chipmunk on a rail
Brimful of saucy chatter.
Milk streams within a milking pail
And mother stirring batter.

So when a simple tune I blew
Upon that willow whistle
The years would fly away from you
As down flies off a thistle.
Your mother's loving good-night croon
Would keep a-throbbing through it—
Yes, I could blow you such a tune
Had I the heart to do.

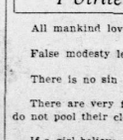
Gladstone, when a boy, was visiting in the country and the farmer was showing him around. Coming to a field that contained a large black bull, the farmer said:



"There's a fine, strong bull there, Master William, and it's only two years old."

"How do you tell its age?" queried the boy.

"By its horns," said the farmer. "By its horns?" Young Gladstone looked thoughtful a moment, then his face cleared. "Ah, I see. Two horns—two years."

LAWN TENNIS

By Frederic J. Haskin

No less than seven nations are interested in the Davis silver cup, the contest for which is to take place between the lawn tennis champions of Australasia and the United States at the West Side Tennis club in New York next week. The cup was presented in 1900 as a trophy for international tennis contests, and possession of it denotes the world's championship. Belgium, France, Germany, Australasia, Canada and the United States have challenged the Britons for its possession, and the first preliminary matches is that scheduled in New York. After that the champions will sail for England to play in the British contests which open on June 21, in accordance with the time honored custom, the first and third days will be devoted to single matches and the intermediate day given up to doubles.

The attendance upon these matches indicate the amazing interest which is taken in the game of tennis by the general public no less than by the players themselves. At the match held in Australia last November the daily attendance reached 7,000, packing the stands to their fullest capacity. The gate receipts exceeded $15,000.

Tennis is descended from a game known as longue paume which was played in the chateaus of France and Italy as far back as the middle ages. From the fourteenth century inclosed courts were used in France upon which indoor tennis was played by the members of the nobility. One of the famous documents of French history is known as the "Oath of the Tennis Court," because it was taken by members of an assembly who were denied admission to the palace of Versailles and, therefore, held a meeting in a hall furnished as a tennis court. At this meeting the members signed a document agreeing "to assemble wherever the constitution may demand and never to separate until the kingdom is established upon a solid foundation."

A game of outdoor sport similar to tennis was played in the days of Queen Elizabeth in England when a company of Somersetshire men gathered under her window and "did laye out lines in a square of green sward marking out the form of a tennis court with a crosse line in the middle and there with a hand bill, bord and cord did play a game to the liking of her highness." While modern tennis is of undisputed English origin, historians agree that the game with the racquets and ball, as now played, did not make its appearance as an outdoor game until 1873, when Major Wingfield introduced it at an English house party, using an hour glass shaped court.

This form of court was soon found to be impracticable for popular sport, but a number of men interested in cricket playing soon saw the possibilities of the new game, and designed the present form of tennis court and laid out rules suitable to the government of the game. The history of the game as a popular sport really begins with the first championship which was won by S. W. Gore in 1877. From that time on the interest in the game became phenomenal throughout the British Isles and soon extended to their dependencies. In Ireland especially the game became popular, and some of the best British champions have been of Irish extraction.

Tennis was brought to America in 1879, and the first court was laid out at Nahant, a country place outside of Boston. The United States Lawn Tennis association was organized soon after and the first American lawn tennis tournament was held in 1880 under the direction of the Staten Island Cricket and Baseball club. R. D. Sears, whose brother was responsible for introducing tennis in America, was the first champion and maintained the championship in singles for seven years. He also held the championship in doubles for six years in partnership with J. Dwight. Now mighty tennis champions come from every part of the country, and state, interstate, city and county tournaments are frequent events.

No game has ever grown into such widespread popularity in the history of the world. Although lawn tennis as now played is less than half a century old, its courts may be found from Alaska to Africa, from East India to South America. Wherever civilization has gained any foothold the white marked court appears. In the tropics where turf grounds cannot be had asphalt, concrete or macadam is used as a substitute. Perhaps in no tropical country is lawn tennis played with more enthusiasm than on the Panama canal zone which now includes no less than eighteen courts on its fifty square miles of territory. The first two courts were laid out in 1906 in the city of Panama upon the site of one of the old fortresses of that historic old city. These courts were laid directly over the casements of the fort which was built into the city wall nearly 300 years ago and are thirty feet above the street level of the present city.

The first courts were under the joint auspices of the English and American residents of the Panamanian capital, but as the number of Americans increased upon the canal zone, tennis activities increased and concrete courts painted green with white markings were distributed along the railroad crossing the isthmus at Culebra, Corazal, Las Cascade, Gatun, Obispo and several other points. At Gatun where the world famous locks are located, there is an electrically lighted court which is considered one of the finest in the world, although the night playing was discontinued because of the pest of insects attracted by the glare of the lights.

Lawn tennis is a game which is becoming equally popular with women and men. The first American woman champion was Miss A. F. Hansell, who won highest honors in 1887. The western women have had more practice in tournament playing than the eastern women, which is doubtless responsible for the fact that California has been so well represented by the Misses Sutton and also by Miss Hazel Hotchkiss, the latter having held the national champion honors for three years. Miss Mary K. Browne, of Los Angeles, held the championship last year, while the runner-up honor went to Miss Eleanora Sears, of Boston. The championship in play court tennis, which is now becoming divided from the turf court, was awarded to Miss May Sutton, an ex-national champion, who has recently become the bride of Thomas Clark Bundy, himself a player of international reputation, thus indicating that Cupid occasionally turns tennis "loves" to "advantage." In England the women have taken active part in national tennis events almost from the beginning of the game, and have thus achieved a larger number of national honors than have been accredited to American women, but Miss May Sutton demonstrated the superior skill of the American women tennis players by winning the English honors in 1905 and 1907.

Formerly the expense of building a tennis court prevented tennis from becoming a popular game with people of moderate means. Now the value of the exercise has become so well recognized that the public parks of every large city are providing free tennis courts upon which any one may be permitted to play. In New York Park Commissioner Stover has arranged for ninety-two asphalt courts to be laid out in Central Park, near Ninety-sixth street. Their planning has been under the direction of G. F. Touchard, a well known New York tennis player who has had experience with asphalt courts in California. Formerly New York public tennis courts had all been laid out upon the grassy surface of the park which had the disadvantage of being uneven in many spots. Tennis is considered an especially desirable exercise for young people and public high school tennis clubs are receiving the encouragement of most athletic directors.

BALLADE OF THE BALLPLAYER.

Especially the Yank variety.
"You have no show in the pennant race,"
Says I to the player; and he communes:
"Believe me, colonel, you put the case—
It does cut into my afternoons,
I might be teaing, with macaroons,
Or doing the trot or the grizzly bear
To a lot of undignified, raggy tunes—
But this keeps me out in the open air."

"I know," said the man with the sunburned face,
"How flutter the Aprils, Mays and Junes;
And a ball park isn't the pleasantest place—
It does cut into afternoons.
I have felt the sting of the press lampoons;
They called me a rotter, but I should care!
There are jobs that might gather me more doubloons,
But this keeps me out in the open air."

"I seldom single, or steal a base;
I am not one of the team's big boons;
As to fielding and wielding the willow mace—
It does cut into my afternoons.
I might be hanging around saloons,
Or some smoky pool-and-billiard lair.
We play, I know, like a pack of prunes,
But this keeps me out in the open air."

L'ENVOY.

Prince, it picks me no picayunes;
It does cut into my afternoons.
There are better jobs almost anywhere—
But this keeps me out in the open air.

THE DIARY OF OUR OWN SAMUEL PEPYS.

May 26.—With Harry Smith that is just from Auburn prison and M. Anspacher to luncheon and Harry a pleasant seeming youth, and so joyed to be again free in the world that he scarce could eat aught, and then to the ball park with him and he took more zest in what he did see soever than anyone ever I saw. Too, he told me how that he would work at what he might find soever, and I do hope he may find a good place, and would vouch for him in any sum. In the evening came Mistress Florence Burns and her sister Kathleen, who is prettier than ever she was, and with them R. Burroughs the artist, and so all of us in F.'s petroleum-waggon to Coney Island and there met Mr. Nelson who admitted us to all the show places, and I did like all save but the diving girls, sithen they did seem so joyless and uninterested; albeit, as Larry Anhalt the showman did put it, they were immersed in their art. But in no place did aught thrilling happen, nor doth it ever, which meseems is the psychology of Coney Island and such institutions. This day my Lord Theodore is in Michigan, to disprove what Newett the scrivener did write, saying him to be a drinking man, which Heaven knoweth he is not.

27.—A dark day and chill. To luncheon with Louis Untermeyer the critick who told me some good advice, and then we did speak of my writings and of literature. Too I saw there Bourchier and Robertson the artist who told me, poor wretch, of the tar-oil the woman did rub in his hair that it might grow again. Thence home and read this in "Punch," my favorite comick Journal: "Never go to bed with cold feet," says the 'Family Doctor.' You should, of course, leave them in the fender." Which I deemed as sorry a japery as ever I saw, and as bad as any might spring even in this land. SMITH'S EDUCATIONAL RESOLUTION GETS REPORT

Senate Committee on Education and Labor Favors Georgian's Vocational Education

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Appointment of a commission of nine to study plans for a federal system of aid to vocational education was indorsed today by the senate committee on education and labor.

The committee recommended passage of the resolution introduced by Senator Hoke Smith, of Georgia, under which a commission appointed by the senate would report to congress in December.

It is intended that the report shall form the basis for a bill similar to the Smith-Page-Lever and other bills before the last congress.

about it like I do now. We always think of these things too late. But Mr. Frank was my boss, and I was accustomed to doing what he told me, and he promised me a piece of money watch I wanted.

"If Mr. Frank had stuck to me like he promised I would never have told anything, and I don't believe they would ever have found out the truth. I have not seen Mr. Frank but once since the murder; that was on the day following Tuesday morning. He came up to the fourth floor in the stamping room proper. I was sweeping, and as he passed me he stopped and whispered in my ear. 'He a good boy now,' and I said, 'Yes, I'm is.'

"I expected to go on down to the office and get the money he promised me, but on my way down a little later one of the floorwomen told me that they had arrested Mr. Frank again. I haven't seen him or heard from him since that day."

WHERE SHE WAS MURDERED.

Conley expressed the opinion Saturday morning that Mary Phagan was murdered in one of the toilet rooms on the second floor and that her body was brought out into the walkway by the dining room, about fifteen or twenty feet from the toilet rooms, before he came upon the scene."

"The girl must have been dead for about 15 minutes when I saw her, for when I lifted her body to push the cross bagging under it I took hold of her forearm and it was cold. The body was also still.

"Her hat, one slipper, a piece of ribbon and her parasol lay several feet away from the body. And a piece of her dress or underskirt lay near the body. There was nothing around her neck at the time except the cord, which was drawn tight and which must have been taken from the cotton room up at the other end of the building, for that is where these lengths of cord are kept. I gathered up the hat, slipper and ribbon and put them in the bundle with the body. I left the parasol there and don't remember whether I took along the piece of cloth torn from her dress or underskirt. Anyhow, it was not tied about her neck when I left the body in the basement. This must have been done after the notes were taken down there. I never did see any purse.

Asked if he got any blood on his hands while handling the body, Conley replied: "No, sir, not a bit. I never even washed my hands until Sunday morning."

He said the first he heard about the finding of the body was when he came to the factory on Monday morning, as he had not read the Sunday papers. Wade Campbell, an inspector in the lead department, told me about a girl having been found dead in the basement and I expressed some surprise. Some of the other negroes inquired if she was a white or black girl, and Campbell said it was Mary Phagan. I didn't have anything much to say. When the other negroes went down to look over the basement where the body was found I didn't go, for I knew in my own mind about how it got there, and I didn't care to go down and talk about it.

"Some folks say they believe I committed the murder. I didn't do it. If I had wanted to murder any one I would not have gone to the factory to do so; I would have gone to the woods or some such place."

NOTICED THE CLOCK.

Conley says he noticed the clock when he came back to get the bagging to wrap about the body. It was then four minutes to 1 o'clock. He says that at least thirty minutes was required to get the body downstairs and to write the notes; that he must have left the factory about 1:30 and that he doesn't know when Frank left, but that it was later than that.

The negro denied that he was drunk on the morning of the murder, as he said he had been over on Peters street and had drunk about a half-pint of whisky and three or four beers. He said he met Frank at the corner of Nelson and Forsyth streets shortly after 10 o'clock, and that he had done so because Frank had told him the day before where to find there at that hour.

Conley said that after he left the factory Saturday afternoon he walked over to a near-beer saloon on Hunter street, about a block away, and drank "double-header" beer; that he then went over on Peters street and drank some more, after which he went home.

"I can't tell how or when, or exactly what spot the girl was killed, because I don't know. It is up to Mr. Frank to explain these things, as I have told you above knows I am telling the truth; that's all I can tell."

When told that a number of events, described by him as having happened at the factory on Saturday morning, occurred, according to the testimony of those in the factory at the time, before the hour at which the negro claims to have met Mr. Frank—10 o'clock—the negro was at a loss to explain how this could be. He declared, however, that he could prove that he was not lodging in the factory before 10 o'clock by people in two near-beer saloons on Peters street. He also expressed the belief that he could prove that he met Mr. Frank at the hour he said he did at the corner of Forsyth and Nelson streets by several draymen, who were near by, whose names he does not know.

Conley says he remembers the visit of Lemmie Quinn to the factory shortly after 12 o'clock and that Quinn remained in the factory eight or nine minutes.

Conley claims that he did not bear of the murder, after his part in disposing of the body, until Monday morning, when he went to the factory.

The negro again asserted Saturday that he had decided to tell the whole truth and leave Mr. Frank to shoulder the responsibility after he had been locked up in police station for days and no word came from Mr. Frank, as he expected.

The iron door leading into the jail room on the floor where Mr. Frank's cell is located was drawn Saturday morning, cutting off the view, so that any one passing could not see the factory superintendent. This was the first time this door has been closed, it is said, since Mr. Frank's incarceration. Mr. Frank is evidently determined not to be annoyed by the curious or by reporters seeking interviews. According to a brother of Lemmie Quinn, who called to see Mr. Frank Saturday, the superintendent has made no statements in reference to the crime or the charge against him. He does not credit the reported remarks said to have been heard by Tower attaches.

MR. FRANK QUOTED.

Leo M. Frank, superintendent of the National Pencil factory, is quoted by jail attaches and prisoners, who talked with him on Friday afternoon, as declaring that the murder of Mary Phagan, for which he has been indicted, was the work of a negro not a white man.

The factory head is quoted as saying, "No white man killed Mary Phagan. It is a negro's job through and through and I don't see how anyone with common sense can suspect me."

While never going into details, Frank is said to have repeatedly protested his innocence to jailers and prisoners, who visit his cell at the Tower.

Sheriff Mangum quotes the incarcerated man as saying that he does not know who killed Mary Phagan, but whoever committed the crime should hang.

James Conley, who accuses Mr. Frank in a startling confession in which he admits assisting in the disposal of the body, has talked freely to all who care to listen.

Conley says he is "guilty of disposing of the body," but of no other crime, and Friday afternoon he declared that Superintendent Frank would bear him out in this statement.

REASON FOR BEING THERE.

While the substance of only three of Conley's affidavits have been published, the negro says that he made four statements. In one of them he dealt largely with his reasons for being in the factory on Saturday, April 26. Conley declares that Mr. Frank had told him on the Friday before the tragedy to meet him the next morning at Montag Brothers and to come over to the factory to move a number of boxes.

He says the official ordered him to secrete himself behind some boxes when he reached the factory because he (Frank) didn't want Foreman N. V. Darley to know that extra work was being done by the employes on the holiday.

Conley has several times repeated his statement that he resented his gruesome part in the tragedy because he believed that he had been deserted by Mr. Frank and his friends.

The negro declares that it is now up to his former employer to make a confession.

He declares that "Mr. Frank ain't got much chance," and that it is up to him to tell the truth as he (Conley) has already done.

Conley gives as his excuse for assisting in the disposal of the body the fact that he had been drinking and was not in his right mind.

TWO SOUGHT NOW IN DUAL MURDER CASE; NO SUSPECT IN JAIL

nest Maynard, two negroes, who formerly worked on the Stevens place and who weer said to be great chums, executed the crime together.

No trace of these men has been found since Wilkes was seen by Wade Stevens Tuesday night. Detectives are scouring the country for them.

TWO YOUTHS RELEASED.

Warrants against Wade Stevens and "Red" Merchant, who have been held at police station since Friday morning in connection with the murder of Mrs. Sarah Stevens and her adopted daughter, Nellie, on the East McDonough road Tuesday night, were dismissed Friday afternoon, and the two boys were freed.

Wade Stevens is taking an active part in assisting the detectives and Sheriff McCurdy of DeKalb county in their search.

A negro suspected of being Maynard was arrested in Fairburn, Ga., Thursday night, but Sheriff McCurdy says that this man has been released, as there was no scar on his right cheek such as Maynard is said to have.

The bodies of Mrs. Stevens and Nellie Stevens, which have been at H. M. Patterson's chapel since last Wednesday, will be taken to the old home of Mrs. Stevens in Meansville, Ga., at 5 o'clock Sunday morning for funeral and interment. They will be accompanied by Mr. Stevens, Wade Stevens, and several other friends and relatives of the family.

Rich Girl With Beautiful Voice Sings To Hundreds of Prisoners

MYRTLE STEDMAN.

BY GERTRUDE M. PRICE.

This beautiful girl spends much of her spare time singing to the prisoners in state penitentiaries.

She also gives her services as a soloist at churches where it is not possible to afford highly-paid singers.

She is credited with being the fourth richest actress in the city of Chicago, where she lives when she is not playing an engagement.

Who is she?

That's very simple, because probably you have seen her scores of times, no matter where you live.

Oh, yes, now you remember, distinctly, having seen her in any number of novel pictures.

Her hobby is the western play in which she can do a good deal of outdoor acting. She is an expert horsewoman and an exceptionally clever actress.

Before Miss Stedman took up "movies" she sang in opera. That's how she happens to be able to do so much good and give so much pleasure with her voice.

Miss Stedman's position in the Colorado-Arizona company gives her opportunity to travel. Last summer she was at Canon City, Colo. This winter she fas with the company at Prescott, Ariz.

A few days ago the members of her company presented her with a handsome silver-mounted saddle. She is a favorite with those with whom she works, as well as with those who merely known her as she appears on the screen.

This popular Selig girl will play the star part in the new, two-reel feature released June 4, which is called "The Law and the Outlaw." She is featured in "Religion and Gun Practice," released May 26, and "An Embarrassed Bridegroom," released June 6.

U. S. SENATOR BRADY MARRIES IN CHICAGO

Idaho Senator Weds Miss Irene Moore at Highland Park Church

CHICAGO, May 31.—United States Senator James H. Brady, of Idaho, came to Chicago today to be married. The bride-elect is Miss Irene Moore, and the wedding is scheduled to take place this evening at Highland Park, a suburb.

Miss Moore will be attended by Mrs. Henry Suzzallo, of New York, as matron of honor. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Calvin Dodson, pastor of the Highland Park Presbyterian church.

The wedding is said to be the outcome of a romance of several years' standing.

cause the courts have held the contract to be illegal, owing to a technicality, the city ought not to take advantage of the situation and force the company down.

Captain R. M. Clayton, the city chief of construction, on Friday furnished the finance committee with a detailed estimate of the cost of materials and workmanship in the crematory, and these figures show that the Destructor's profit is $35,000. Captain Clayton said he considers this a very reasonable profit on a $250,000 job, and especially considering the risk assumed by the company in building a plant under a contract which admittedly would give it no grounds for suit if the city should fail to meet the deferred payments.

WILSON WANTS CURRENCY REFORM IMMEDIATELY

Senator Tillman Makes Public Letter Received From the President Recently

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Senator Tillman today made public a letter from President Wilson in which the president declared for currency legislation at the present session of congress.

In thatin portion of thne letter referring t ocurrency the president wrote:

"This is the time to pass currency legislation and I think we are in a sense bound in loyalty to the countr y to pass it so that any attempt to create artrifical disturbance after the tariffs shall have become a law may be offset by a free system of credit which will make it possible for men, big and little to take care of themselves in business."

progress of the country. The people are entitled to the best fallities administered in the most efficient manner. That the facilities furnished during the last four years were not the best is clearly established by the facts."

"Notwithstanding the great zeal displayed in the effort to place the department on the so-called paying basis and the resultant injuries to the service, the claim of the former postmaster general that the service actually yielded a profit in 1911 has no foundation in fact, as shown herein.

HURT SERVICE.

"In line with the policy of unwise administrative economy which the former administration had adopted, vacancies in the clerical force of the department were permitted to remain unfilled, and the lapsed salaries were turned back to the treasury. The withholding of deserved promotions caused dissatisfaction among the employes, and undoubtedly to some extent lowered their efficiency and contributed against keeping the work of the department."

Failure to fill vacancies during 1910 and 1911 was not justified, according to the committee, which states that "instead of making deserved promotions a considerable number of transfers from other departments were made at salaries in excess of the entrance grade, of men untrained in the work of the postoffice department."

It is further declared that in order to effect these transfers Mr. Hitchcock certified in each case where the salary was in excess of the entrance grade that the person recommended for transfer was especially equipped for the work, although many of the certifications were unjustified.

FALSE ECONOMY.

Stress is laid on Mr. Hitchcock's play for economy with the committee saying, "notices to this effect were carried by the press, delivered personally by representatives of the department at postmasters' conventions and in official letters to postmasters at first and second class postoffices. It is assumed by the comitee that the stress laid upon this matter induced many postmasters to exercise drastic economy at the expense of the service. The result has undoubtedly justified such complaints of imperfect and unsatisfactory service as have been received.

"During the early part of the administration action was deferred on all cases involving the establishment of city delivery service in which there might be any excuse for delaying action, notwithstanding that the people were entirely in the service and that the establishment had been recommended by the postoffice inspectors. Many such cases were acted upon only after persistent requests of senators and representatives."

In regard to the alleged practice of Mr. Hitchcock in delaying appointments and refusing to furnish necessary clerks to postmasters, the report sets forth:

"The practice of delaying action until the pressure for it became too strong is even more noticeable by examination of the records of the division of rural mails. During the greater part of the fiscal year, ended June 30, 1911, rural routes were apparently established only in cases of extreme emergency, except where a net saving to the government was involved. Practically no extensions of existing rules were approved.

"CUTTING OFF STAR ROUTES.

"On October 1, 1910, 1,184 approved petitions for rural route establishments were held in the division of rural mails awaiting final action. These continued to accumulate, and yet at the end of May following (May, 1911), the record for the eleven months of the fiscal year shows a net increase of only 210 routes.

"In the single month of June, 1911, 373 routes were established, and eight discontinued, making a net increase of 267 for the one month, or a net total increase of 577 routes. The annual cost during the fiscal year for this increase of 577 routes was thus limited to $210,417.

"In October, 1910, the fourth assistant's bureau apparently faced a deficit on account of the star route service and instructions were issued to reduce the expenses for existing service to such a figure as would avoid a deficit. The attention o congress was not called to the condition, and star route service was discontinued or curtailed, and proposed additional service was not established. Pro sts and demand for restorso urgent and insistent, however, that early part of May, 1911, nearly all of the star route service previously discontinued or curtailed was restored, effective June 1, 1911. These discontinuations and curtailments elected a saving or decrease of nearly $100,000 in the expenditures for star route service during 1911."

Coming to the question of financial conditions the report describes the commissioners' study of the finances of the department for the fiscal years 1909 to 1911 inclusive as outlined above and says specifically:

"Instead of a surplus of $219,188.12 for that year (1911) as claimed by your predecessor, it is clearly demonstrated that there was in reality a deficit of more than three-quarters of a million dollars. Furthermore, a close analysis of the financial statement for the fiscal year 1912 disclosed the fact that the admitted deficit of $185,523.10 for that year was underestimated by nearly $100,000.

LIVELY SESSION HELD BY MUSCOGEE JURY

Bills Returned Against Several Well-Known Residents of Columbus

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

COLUMBUS, Ga., May 31.—The closing session of the Muscogee county grand jury proved to be quite a lively one. In addition to the indictment of Leo Loewenherz, proprietor of the Bee Hive Dry Goods company, and his former bookkeeper and office man, H. M. Mooty, now of College Park, the former on the charge of perjury, and the latter on the charge of larceny after trust, the body returned bills against prominent cotton mill owners of Columbus, including Charles L. Perkins, president o fthe Massey-Perkins hosiery plant and J. K. King, superintendent of the mills, achargring violations of the state code in not providing seats for operatives in the mills when they are not actually engaged at work, the specific charge being a misdemeanor.

Over 100 true bills were returned by the jury during the session, it being one of the busiest ever held in the county. The body made itsn report to the court late Friday and the jury was discharged for the term.

WHITFIELD CONVICT DROWNS NEAR DALTON

DALTON, Ga., May 31.—While in swimming at Willowdale, north of here, yesterday afternoon, Jim Peak, a negro felony convict, sent to the county farm from Fulton, was drowned and another convict had a narrow escape from the same fate.

The convicts asked Warden Forrester for permission to go in swimming, but he refused. Later, one of the guards, not knowing of the wardens' refusal, permitted a number to go in swimming and Peak was drowned.

The negro was serving a seven-year sentence.

Candidate for Honors

DR. A. S. J. STOVALL,
Representative-elect and his own successor from Elbert county, who is running a strong race for speaker pro tem of the lower house of the Georgia legislature.

Notwithstanding published reports implying contrary, Dr. A. S. J. Stovall, of Elberton, representative from Elbert county, is very positively in the race for speaker pro tem. of the new house of representatives that will organize when the legislature convenes in the latter days of June.

Writing to friends in Atlanta, Dr. Stovall comments on some recent political gossip which he has read in one of the Georgia papers, wherein it was stated that another representative probably will be elected unanimously, as no other candidate for the place has appeared.

As a mater of fact, Dr. Stovall's announcement for speaker pro tem. was made very shortly after his election last fall.

"Not only am I running, but I've got good assurances of success," writes Dr. Stovall.

Dr. Stovall is the author of the recently adopted amendment to the constitution which removes the restriction that prohibited the teaching of grades above the seventh in the common schools of the state. He was one of the authors of the present law that prohibits the publication of the names of women in cases of assault or attempted assault. In the house four years ago Dr. Stovall was one of the vigorous supporters of the recently ratified income tax amendment to the federal constitution. In the house last year he introduced a measure providing for a state income tax, and will reintroduce that same measure in the new legislature.

FOUR ARE INJURED IN WRECK IN MACON YARDS

Southern Passenger Collides With Switch Engine in Yards at Macon

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MACON, Ga., May 31.—Southern passenger train No. 107 from Hawkinsville and Cochran, due here at 9:15 this morning, collided with a switch engine in the yards this morning, injuring three members of the crew and one passenger, F. H. Fanden, ticket collector, was the most seriously injured.

Engineer S. J. Haynes, Fireman S. M. Joiner, of the passenger train, and S. T. Ricketson, a passenger, were the only persons injured on the train. Ambulances hurried to the scene of the wreck as quickly as possible and carried the injured trainmen and passenger to Williams' sanitarium. Both engines were badly damaged. A switch engine on the main line caused the wreck.

The injured will all recover.

GOVERNOR'S STAFF GIVES WEDDING GIFT TO PAXON

The members of the governor's staff have presented to Colonel Frederick J. Paxon, chief of staff, a handsome silver service as a wedding present.

The presentation was made in a letter to Colonel Paxon by General J. Van Holt Nash, in which he expressed the high esteem in which Colonel Paxon is held by members of the staff.

No Need Being Old or Wrinkled Before 75

Lillian Russell says any woman who has wrinkles before she's 75 is herself responsible for them. Sunshine and fresh air she considers more valuable as complexion preservers than nostrums and cosmetics.

The chief objection to cosmetics is that at best they only temporarily cover up defects. There are certain true aids to Nature, which may be applied with directly opposite effect. Ordinary mercolized wax, for instance, actually removes a bad or oldish complexion, by gradually, almost imperceptibly, peeling off the worn-out scarf skin. Just one ounce, procurable at any drug store, will soon unveil an entirely new and natural complexion with an exquisite girlish color. Of course cutaneous blemishes like pimples, freckles, fine lines, moth patches, liver spots, disappear with the discarded skin.

To prevent or remove wrinkles, a face bath which also produces natural results, is made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. This is immediately effective and gives no untoward after-effects. (Advt.)

Beer Exposed to Light for 5 Minutes Becomes Undrinkable

This is not our statement, but the deliberate opinion of one of the most renowned scientists in the world. Read the entire statement:

"We have tested beers repeatedly, placing the bottles in the direct sunlight, and testing the same after one, two, three and five minutes exposure, found that the beer with three and five minutes exposure became undrinkable on account of the peculiar odor developed. The detrimental effect of light upon beer can be successfully counteracted by the employment of brown or dark colored glass bottles, and such bottles are, therefore, recommendable."—Wahl-Henius Institute of Fermentology.

It is not enough that beer be brewed pure, it must be kept pure.

Many Americans prefer beer in a light bottle. Most brewers follow the course of least resistance.

Light starts decay even in pure beer. Dark glass gives the best protection against light. Schlitz is sold in Brown Bottles to protect its purity from the brewery to your glass.

Double Header For Saturday---First Game Slated For 2:15

Chappelle and Musser Fling Double Stunt

First Game to Start at 2:15, Last Game for Several Days, Crackers Going to Nashville for Series

A double-header will be the bill Saturday afternoon at Ponce de Leon. The Billikens and the Crackers will do the two-game stunt and will start the act at 2:15 o'clock. This will be the best afternoon's value since the season has opened. The Billikens are going good and the Crackers are not loafing by any means, and from all reports the Montgomery boys are out for revenge after their overwhelming defeat of yesterday.

Elmer Brown and Bagby will do the swirling for the Alabama team, while Musser and Chappelle will be on the mound for the locals. There is a chance, however, of Smith sending in Price, the big left-hander, in a big effort to cop both games of the afternoon. Donahue and Gribbens will alternate behind the bat for Montgomery and Chapman and Dunn will receive the slants for the Crackers.

This is the last game that will be played at Ponce de Leon until next Thursday, the team leaving tonight for Nashville, where they will play a three-game series with the Vols beginning on Sunday. This is the second Sunday game that has been played in Nashville since the supreme court decided in favor of Sunday ball in Tennessee.

BELMONT PARK, May 31.—Harry P. Whitney's Whisk Broom II flashed under the wire a winner in the Metropolitan Handicap at the Belmont Park race track in the presence of a throng of more than 25,000 persons who had gathered to witness the running of the notable turf event, marking the revival of racing in New York state.

The Whitney horse, ridden by Jockey Joe Notter, had practically been left at the post, but won well in hand in 1:39. It was the first appearance of the son of Broomstick and Audience, a purely bred horse, on an American track. The horse was brought here this year from England, where he had acquitted himself creditably, and was trained for the event by the veteran James Rowe. Richard F. Carman, who owns and trains G. M. Miller and Meridian, winner of the Kentucky Derby two years ago, took the remainder of the prize money, as the pair finished second and third.

TODAY

BIRMINGHAM, May 31.—Birmingham and New Orleans go into the fourth game of the series this afternoon with determination, the locals expecting to win. Hardgrove and Mayer for Birmingham and Swindell and Adams for New Orleans will be the batteries.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 31.—Mobile will climb the series here this afternoon. The weather is fair. Brackenridge will probably pitch for Nashville and Gibson catch. Wilbur Robertson is slated to work for the visitors, with Schmidt receiving.

CHATTANOOGA, May 31.—The last game of the Memphis and Chattanooga series will be played today, the weather is fair and warm. Batteries: Chattanooga, More and Moran; Memphis, Newton and Snell.

COBB'S WORK

Ty Cobb and his big average took a decided slump Friday. The wonder was at the bat seven times, and got only one hit. He also struck out twice. In the afternoon game, when a hit would have turned the tide for the Tigers in the two games played he crossed the plate one time. Just what the cause of this sudden slump is has not yet been sent out from the Tigers' headquarters, but the Man with the Wallop must be sick.

There is always a reason when the Georgia Peach takes a sudden slump, but despite the poor showing Cobb has still a pretty good average, and there is not much chance of him getting benched for not connecting with the pill.

His average so far this year is:

Cobb	27	90	14	41	.455

COLLEGIAN LEADING LEAGUE

BRADLEY HOGG.

No pitcher in the Southern league is going half so good as Bradley Hogg, the ex-Mercer college star now working for Mike Finn's Mobile Gulls. This boy is winning almost every day, and doing so through his good work, no flukes attending the games he works.

One of Hogg's greatest assets is his remarkable control of his curve ball. He never has to groove the pill, always being able to put over a curve when he gets in a hole. His work has done much to keep the Mobile club right at the top, having most acceptably filled in Al Demarest's place on the hurling corps.

No Machines Will Be Raced at Gathering, but Big Crowd Is Expected to Be on Hand

The opening of the Motordrome in Atlanta will surely develop a bunch of sensational amateur board-track riders. The good riders are here already and all it takes is a little practice on the high banks. Already Manager Noon Hudson of the local track is making plans to develop some local amateur stars.

The first amateur to break the ice was Houston Crane, known throughout Dixie as one of the cleverest and most intrepid of motorcycle riders. He tried the track yesterday and though equipped only with a stock road machine he succeded in beating seventy miles an hour for miles at a time. He had no difficulty in maintaining his position on the fifty-eight degree bank and held "the pole" like a veteran.

Mr. Crane will be ready after a little practice to enter an amateur race and by that time Manager Hudson hopes to have another amateur rider broken in and ready for a match race.

Little riding was done Friday, owing to the fact that the painters and carpenters were in the way. Jack Prince set some of his riders to work on the painting job and a careful inspection of their work demonstrated that they are still very good riders.

The work of leveling the infield was started Friday, a day before it was believed possible that it could be tackled and it should be finished before Saturday night. This will mean that every part of the track will be visible from every other part and that the infield, where the two-bits fans will hang out, will be level and in good condition.

Arrangements have been completed for the band concert which will begin with at 3:30 Sunday afternoon. Wedemeyer's band has been secured, work on the band stand is blenig pushed and arrangements have been made to have a sufficient force of police there to preserve absolutely perfect order and to keep away any undesirable lemeit.

Jack Princes and Manager Hudson wish it emphatically announced that there will not be any riding. The track will be there, the machines will be there, the grand stand will be finished and opened, and there will be plenty of track officials on hand to answer any questions and to make any explanations which are desired. It is hoped by the management that the band concert will attract thousands of the best citizens to the motordrome Sunday afternoon to show them what Atlanta has now in the way of a modern race track.

Barons Given Handicap In Monthly Bout

Crackers Can Spot the Alabama Town a Bit and Then Show 'Em Up When It Comes to Baseball Attendance

Already the Birmingham press is yelling over the big victory the Alabama city is to gain over Atlanta by turning out more baseball fans at the flag raising game there on June 9 than Atlanta does at the trophy performance at Ponce de Leon on June 19. They have never gotten over losing out in the fight for the attendance trophy and are straining every nerve to beat Atlanta this time.

Flag raising day is undoubtedly a bigger event, probably a bit more important than receiving an attendance trophy, yet Atlanta is willing to give the Barons this handicap and enter the competition. You know Atlanta has to give Birmingham a bit of a handicap to make the going interesting and the real difference in the two affairs will just about make it even.

Remember when Atlanta won the attendance trophy the rain proved the right handicap and yet Atlanta won. It rained throughout the afternoon of the opening day game and yet the Cracker fans responded in large numbers and beat the figures shown by Birmingham, and it was a pleasant day in Birmingham when the opening day game was played. At the opening day game there 4,836 fans paid their way past the turnstiles, but it will probably take more than this to win the next battle with Birmingham.

At the big game here on June 19 the Birmingham club will be the opposition, while in the big event in Birmingham on June 9 the Atlanta club is to be the attraction. This is another handicap for Birmingham, the Cracker club being a far greater drawing card than the Barons. Many fans around the circuit will go to see the Crackers play ball when they would not think of going out to see the Barons in action. With these two handicaps it should be as near equal as possible.

President W. M. Kavanaugh, the savior of the league on more than one occasion, will be on hand to present the handsome attendance trophy to the Cracker club. This will be the first visit of the year and the fans will be on hand to give him a big sendoff.

Mrs. Daly Wins Golfing Title

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 31.—Mrs. E. W. Daley, of Nashville, Tenn., won the title of woman champion golfer of the south by defeating Mrs. F. G. Jones, of Memphis, title holder, by a margin of one hole in the finals of the third annual tournament of the Women's Southern Golf association. The count was one up.

Mrs. Daley gained a lead at the start and maintained it until the sixteenth hole was reached, when Mrs. Jones squared the count. The seventeenth was halved in five. In the play for the last hole Mrs. Jones missed her putt on her fifth shot, while Mrs. Daley holed the ball, and the championship changed hands.

Mrs. Daley made the eighteen holes in 98 and Mrs. Jones in 100, both bet*tering the low qualifying score of 102.* Mrs. J. C. Meehan, of Montgomery, Ala., won the final round in the second championship flight by defeating Mrs. H. L. Armstrong, of Memphis, two up in a hard-fought match.

For the consolation championship Mrs. A. B. Newell, of Nashville, defeated Miss Joy Dunlap, of Birmingham, Ala., 5 up and 4 to play. In the second flight of the consolation championship Mrs. D. C. Faut, of Memphis, won over Mrs. G. L. Myers, another local player, 2 up.

A nine-hole play-off was required to decide the consolation handicap tournament between Mrs. T. H. Seymour, of Nashville, and Mrs. Henry House, of Birmingham. Mrs. Seymour won, 52 to 57. They tied on the first round with net scores of 98. The tournament will end tomorrow with a mixed foursome.

TIGERS AND YALE CLASH

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 31.—Yale and Princeton crossed bats this afternoon in the first of the "big eastern" collegiate games of the season. The blue started the game a favorite because of its remarkable record of twenty-three victories out of twenty-seven games played. Although Williams caught Yale in a slump Tuesday, Coach Quinby had his men on edge for the game today. The rapprochement between the heavy-hitting right fielder, who has been out of the game a short time with a sprained ankle, also strengthened the blue.

BILL CARRIGAN.

Bill Carrigan is one of the star catchers of the American league and a member of the somewhat chastened world's champion Boston Red Sox team.

But Carrigan isn't the most interesting feature of this photograph. Look at the ball and then at the bat. The picture was taken as Carrigan was batting fungoes to the outfielders. The ball appears to be oval, yet it is so sharp that the seam can be seen. The bat appears curved, so swiftly was the husky backstop bringing it around as the photographer made the exposure.

Carrigan is one of the numerous players who have taken a 'posigraduate Course in baseball after graduating from Holy Cross university, where making big leaguers is an annual affair.

Goux, French Driver, Wins 500-Mile Automobile Race

Record This Year Behind That Made in 1912—Many Accidents Put Star Drivers Out of the Running

INDIANAPOLIS, May 31.—The United States fell before France here Friday when Jules Goux, a Frenchman, driving a French car, the Peugeot, won the third annual 500 mile automobile race in 6:31:33.45 at an average speed of 76.59 miles an hour.

No fatal accidents marred the running of the race, although two were seriously injured, when the Mason, driven by Jack Tower, upset on the back turn, due to a tire blowout. Tower's right leg was broken and Lee Dunning, his mechanician, was hurt internally and three ribs were broken. Physicians were not sure as to the extent of Dunning's injuries.

Charles Merz, who finished third in a Stutz, brought the biggest thrill to the crowd, estimated at 100,000, when he drove the last lap of the race with his car on fire. The flames broke out at the upper stretch turn and Merz refused to stop at the pits until he had circled the track another time and finished the race.

Coming down the home stretch at the finish, Harry Martin, Merz's mechanician, climbed out on the hood of the car and unbuckled the straps so the pitmen could extinguish the flames quickly.

AMERICAN CAR SECOND.

An American car, a Mercer, driven by Spencer Wishart, finished second, seven laps behind the winner. The Sunbeam, an English car, driven by a Frenchman, Albert Guyot, came fourth, The other foreign cars in the money were: Fiilette's Mercedes-Knight (German), which was fifth, and Mulford's Mercedes (German), seventh. Three Italian cars were forced out of the contest.

The race was a little more than ten minutes slower than last year's contest, which was run in 6:21:06. This was due, it was said, to a large measuren to the intense heat, which necessitated many changes of tires.

Another thing which caused a slower time was the fact that this year the piston displacement was limited to 450 cubic inches, while last year the race was a free-for-all. All the speedway records for the class of cars were broken up to 250 miles, when the many stops at the pit began to cut down the average. Goux, the winner, complained at every stop at the pits because his manager refused to let him put his car to its highest speed. He claimed that he could have made much better time, but his manager contended that as he was in the lead from the 140th mile there was no use to let the Peugeot out.

Besides the prizes and trophies offered by accessory concerns, the following przes were given by the speedway management to the winners, which, with their time, follow in order:

Peugeot—Goux; 6:31:33.45; $20,000.
Mercer—Wishart; 6:45:06; $10,000.
Stutz—Merz; 6:50:35.75; $5,000.

HOW GAMES WERE WON

New York and Philadelphia played a no-error game yesterday, New York getting the run at the end of the score. The game was a real ball game, New York getting 11 hits to Philadelphia's 8. Murray, right fielder of the Giants, was the batting star of the game, getting 3 hits out of 4 times at the plate. The final score was 5 to 1 in favor of New York.

The Athletics took both games from the Highlanders yesterday, taking the morning game in a ninth inning rally by the score of 3 to 2, and the second by the score of 7 to 4. The largest crowd of the season was out to see the game, but there was little doing as the athletics had a seven-run lead before the New Yorkers scored a single run. Wolter, for New York, got three hits out of three times up, while Home Run Baker got another homer and a single out of two times at the plate.

Chicago and Detroit broke even yesterday, Detroit winning the first game by the score of 3 to 2, and losing the afternoon battle by the score of 9 to 1. Cicotte was *in fine form, while De*troit used five pitchers to try and stop the onslaught of the Chicago boys. Cobb struck out twice when a hit was needed to turn the tide. The Detroit team was not in the running in the afternoon game, the White Sox playing rings around them at all stages of the battle.

St. Louis and Cleveland did not get a chance to play their scheduled morning game, but in the afternoon contest Cleveland got by in the tenth inning by the score of 5 to 4. St. Louis used three pitchers while Weadman, for St. Louis, was hit freely. Cleveland scored the winning tally in the ninth on a free pass, a sacrifice, a single and a sacrifice fly. Joe Jackson was at the bat four times and got two singles.

Boston trimmed Brooklyn in the afternoon game yesterday by the score of 7 to 6. Boston's winning run was made in the eighth on a muff by Stengel, a wild pitch by Allen and a single by Maranville. The largest crowd that has been at the National park in years was out to see the home team trim the would-be leaders. The Boston team played good ball all the way through and had a batting rap in the ninth. *Both teams made five errors, while Brook*lyn got twelve hits to the Bostonians' seven.

St. Louis handed the little end of it to Cincinnati yesterday afternoon by the score of 6 to 4. Although the Cincinnati team tried a ninth inning batting rally to mend their ways it was to no avail. Steele, pitching for St. Louis, held the other side down to six hits until the ninth when two singles and a double scored one. However, a fly-out and a strike-out ended the scoring, and St. Louis won.

Atlanta evened up old scores with the Billikens in their game yesterday. After playing along with the Montgomery team for a few innings in order to get warmed up they finally turned aloose one of those old-time batting rallies and scored nine runs in the inning. In this inning the whole team batted around. Alperman led off with a double, and when he came up the second time in the same inning he celebrated the event by rapping one out of the lot for a home run. This is enough to take the pep out of most any team and the local bunch should walk away with both games today.

Atlanta Hit And Game Was Rather Easy

Dent Hurled Good Game—Tommy Long Continues to Hit, Alperman Breaks His Batting Slump With Homer

The Cracker batsmen were in hitting form on Friday.

The only other word necessary is to state that the score was 13 to 2, naturally Atlanta being on the winning side.

Elliott Dent and Curly Brown were the rival hurlers and what the Crackers did for the Montgomery flinger was enough. Everything from singles to home runs were crowded into the afternoon, and Atlanta players got most all of them. Just fourteen hits were secured by the home club, seven being bingles in the sixth, netting nine runs.

From the first until the fourth round Brown looked like the real goods and then he blew. With two down in the fourth a series of hits and errors netted two runs, and from then until the end of the game there was nothing to it but how many runs the Crackers would score. Smith and Long led the hitting with three each, while Alperman chimed in with a double and homer and Wolcher chance rapped out two safeties. Bailey one, Agler one, Bisland one and Dent one. Chapman was the only Cracker who failed to get a hit and he bingled hard each time up.

Harry Bailey gave a demonstration of just how good his arm now is when he grabbed Gribbens fly and doubled Sloan at the plate with time to spare. The peg was one of the perfect variety.

Wallace Smith gave a great demonstration of fielding throughout the afternoon. Eclipsing his other difficult plays was his work on Manning's roller in the first round.

Cotton Knaupp robbed Chapman of a timely hit in the fourth when he jumped into the air and flagged his hard line drive back of third.

Bisland fielded in his usual *good fash*ion. His quick pickup and underhand toss of Brown's easy roller in the fifth was a masterpiece. It looked for a minute as if the pitcher would beat out the toss.

Chapman's pegging to the bags was perfect. He threw out three runners who tried to pilfer second, and all by a good margin. Each peg was low and right on the runner's neck.

Wallace Smith pulled a new slide in the sixth, when he raced for third bag. The ball was nearing the bag when head foremost Wally hit the dirt and slid into the bag in safety.

Whitey Alperman has regained his batting eye. After going some seven games without a hit he clouted into a good double and home run in the same inning. Both were hard hits, one to right and the other to left.

And Tommy Long continues to bingle. He made just three hits in five times up and one was a triple past the scorers, Gribbens and Donahue. Curly crossed the pan and once swiped a bag.

NEW YORK, May 31.—Although the track condition and strong wind bothered the athletes at Celtic Park there were two notable performances by runners. C., by inches in a special three-quarter mile run in 3:08.

BALLADS OF THE T. R. TWINS.
(Resurrected, now that one is batting .495 and the other is back on the Front Page once more.)

Knock them as much as you will;
Rub them as hard as you may;
Hammer the anvil until
Both of their names are frappe;
Call each a swell-headed jay,
Cocky and cheaty and quick—
But when you're done with it say
"These T. R.'s are there with the stick."

Say, they are cut for the thrill—
Giving the grandstand a play;
Trying to top-line the bill;
Each in his whirly-gig way;
Trying to sew up the frays—
Peg, if you care to, the brick;
But when you're through with it say
"These T. R.'s are there with the stick."

Cheer when they come to a spill—
Jeer at them day after day;
Lay out their pathway uphill,
Whisper they'll soon be at bay;
Each time they try to get gay
Rise, if you will, with a kick;
But when you're through with it say
"These T. R.'s are there with the stick."

T. R. or TR should be the American synonim for Batting Eye; to TR the ball would be to whale the everlasting cover off—something even beyond Frankbakering it.

Next to the TR's the hardest hitters produced by the nation are the Jackson's—Old Hickory and Shoeless Joe. To Keeler's advice of "hit 'em where they ain't," these four added the final touch of "hit 'em where they can't get to"—a system even more subtle than the Keeler suggestion.

BACK TO THE "CRUCIAL."

The Phillies now have their next eight games with Giants and Pirates—the two clubs picked in advance to tussel for the ton. If aforesaid Giants and Pirates are to assume control of the situation they will find no rarer occasion than this present one. So far the top-two have lost seven out of ten games fought with the leaders and a decided reversal is required to keep the flag race intact. If Dooin can wiggle safely by this next week or fortnight without being halted no prophet is required to foresee an extensive yawn in N. L. circles from mid-June on to waning summer—if not on beyond the autumnal Ides.

ESPECIALTY ON A PUBLIC COURSE.
Lives of golfers oft remind us
How to chop the earthly rind,
And departing, leave behind us
Divots for the blokes behind.

Divots that perhaps another
Hoping for a brassie lie,
Some profane and cussing brother
Uses for an alibi.

Among the assorted peoples required to complete a universe are those willing to pay out regular money to see a pair of thick-necked stews maul each other under the guise of a boxing contest. A good fight is a good fight, but an intermingling of untrained and unskilled blubber in a White Hope conclave is another dish.

On the other hand, as long as the people fall for it no one can blame the promoters or the boobs who have been kidded into the belief that they were fighters for raking in the kale.

The Cleveland Naps at present have a team batting average of .286. Yet we recall when Cleveland had eight .300 hitters and yet finished third to the White Sox with a team average of .224. Which isn't saying that a base-hit here and there still has its advantages and is not to be regarded entirely as excess baggage.

LAGRANGE CLUB IN GOOD; ALL SALARIES ARE PAID

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
LAGRANGE, Ga., May 30.—Some one had evidently been "hitting the pipe" at Newnan just about the time the report about baseball was sent out, in which report it was stated that the LaGrange team was financially embarrassed, was behind with players' salaries and that LaGrange might possibly drop out of the league, and the above facts had been stated by the secretary of the LaGrange club at a meeting of the official board Saturday night. It is not believed in LaGrange that the people of Newnan would intentionally reflect thus upon the city of LaGrange, and it is therefore thought that some irresponsible party was responsible for the published article. In view of the damage such a report might create, the secretary and treasurer of the LaGrange Baseball association has issued the following statement:

"No club in the league went to the expense that LaGrange did in building a ball park, having expended about $2,500 in grading and buildings. Every dollar for improvements has been paid in full, which is probably more than any other club can report.

"As to the report from Newnan, beg to say that it is false in every particular. We had no meeting of the board of directors on Saturday and since the opening of the season no mention of finance has been made at a regular meeting of the board, because no occasion for same has arisen. The LaGrange club does not owe a dollar unless it be some small bill as yet not presented for payment. Players' salaries are not only paid, but 'paid in advance,' as the players have secured so many advances on salary since the 15th that there is hardly a player who will have due him more than a few dollars on the 1st of the month. In addition to this condition we have enough money on hand in the bank to run us a month or six weeks if another dollar was not taken in during that time. Simply because LaGrange has not had a winning team is no sign that the town is ready to cry 'quit.' LaGrange people are not built of that kind of stuff."

Build Strong Yacht To Defend the Cup

BRISTOL, R. I., May 31.—"Nat" Herreschoff, designer of many successful defenders of the American cup, probably will build a candidate for the defense of the cup next year against Sir Thomas Lipton. A syndicate made up of Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, C. Oliver Iselin and other older members of the New York Yacht club, will furnish the funds. That Mr. Herreshoff has expressed a willingness to accept a commission from the syndicate was learned tonight on his return from New York after a long conference requested by members of the New York Yacht club, who have been prominent in financing other cup races.

Ten days ago the Bristol designer informed a committee of young New York yachtsmen that he did not care to enter competition for designing a defender to meet Sir Thomas' challenger next year.

Cricket Team Plays

VICTORIA, B. C., May 31.—The Australian cricket team, headed by Captain Edgar Mayne, arrived here on a tour that will see them in action in the several Canadian cities, in Philadelphia and elsewhere in the United States, and finally in the Bermudas. The visitors will play three games with the local cricket club.

Polo Players Some Fans

NEW YORK, May 31.—Loyalty to British institutions and devotion to polo does not stand in the way of unstinted praise, which the challengers for the international polo cup pay to baseball.

Captain Edward Miller and F. M. Freaks and their wives were guests of a box holder at yesterday's game between the New York and Philadelphia Nationals. It was the first game of big league baseball the English had seen. As they left the park after cheering the Giants' fourteen-inning victory, Captain Miller exclaimed: "Believe me, we haven't anything in England as wonderful as this baseball game of yours. The marvelous catching of your fielders and the general speed and agility of all the players are what impressed me. And the excitement of the game, it certainly outclasses cricket."

Freaks echoed the tribute in just as strong terms. "Amazing," he called it. "I never saw a field sport with half as many thrills."

It had been suggested, after the twelfth inning when the game had nearly taken up three hours, that the English might have had enough. Not by any means, they would not leave such a wonderful battle for anything. So they stayed and "pulled" for the home club.

Social Circle Wins

SOCIAL CIRCLE, May 31.—In one of the prettiest games of the season Social Circle defeated Madison on the latter's grounds by a score of 4 to 3. The features of the game was the fine pitching of Water for Social Circle, he struck out eleven of the Madison heavy hitters and allowed but four hits, while the Social Circle batters got six clean hits off the Madison pitchers. Two of these were for three bases each.

Batteries: Social Circle, Waters and Gibson; Madison, Johnson, Haynes and Ingram.

Carrollton Wins

NEWNAN, Ga., May 31.—Carrollton defeated Newnan here by a one-sided score of 19 to 4. The feature of the game was the heavy hitting of the entire Carrollton team, Dinmock featuring with a home run, driving Poole from the mound, and treating Carmichael no better.

WORLD'S AUTO RECORD.

ROCKLANDS, England, May 31.—W. G. Scott and L. G. Hornsted, driving a fifteen to thirty-horse motor car, broke the world's record for twelve hours, covering 912 miles 640 yards. This was at the rate of 76.20 miles an hour. All world's records from seven to twelve hours were beaten.

Japs Lose Game

TOKIO, May 31.—The second game today between the Americans and the Japanese also resulted in a victory for the American students, 1 to 0.

The scores were:

	R.	H.	E.
Leland Stanford	1	1	2
Moji	0	3	2

Second game:

	R.	H.	E.
Leland Stanford	1	2	3

Name All-Star Team at Emory

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
OXFORD, Ga., May 31.—The all-Emory baseball team for 1913 has been selected and numbers fourteen men, which is one more player than has been named in some of the past years. The selection is:

Pitchers, E. K. Perryman, of Rockmart; Asa Porter, of El Paso, Tex.; Cliff Lester, of Cochran, Ga. Catchers, H. G. Chesnire, of Colquitt; John Harris, of Rockmart, Ga. First base, R. N. Stokes, of Moultrie, Ga. Second base, T. B. Neal, of McDonough, Ga. Third base, J. H. Thomas, of Baxley, Ga. Short stop, John Cutler, of Thomasville, Ga. Utility infielder, R. S. Duncan, of Douglasville, Ga. Outfielders, Louis Bondurant, of Valdosta; H. R. Bowles, of Oakland, Ga.; Linton Munro, of Quincy, Fla.; Rennie Blake, of Mansfield, Ga.

This pick numbers five freshmen, four sophomores, three seniors, and two juniors, and was made by Coach Turner, of the seniors, Coach Peebles, of the juniors, Coach Stipe, of the sophomores, Coach Towson, of the freshmen.

The select would put up a grand game for Emory in case she had intercollegiate athletics, and should this happen at Emory there are numberless other players on the class teams who would stack up well beside any of the all-Emory.

The 1913 season has been very successful, and was a means for Coach Stipe maintaining his record of two pennants in as many years of coaching.

Lanett Red Sox Are Going Great

WEST POINT, Ga., May 31.—The Lanett Red Sox won from the fast Langdale team here Saturday by a score of 6 to 1. The game was a hard-fought one, as it was the deciding game of the series. Langdale came prepared to take the game, getting recruits from Notasulga and Shawmut, but Holiday was there with the goods, and made those big leaguers look like mere school boys. The Lanett club has the best collection of ball players that has been here for a number of years.

The managers of the club were never asleep, and as the small leagues let the good ones go they were right there with another contract, and in the meantime secured such men as Holiday, Snell, Temple, Merkle, Wiggins, Dickinson and Parsons, all from the Alabama-Georgia league except Parsons, who came from the South Atlantic. But there are others of local talent that shine as brightly as do the leaguers, such as Hill, Humphreys, Heggood and Anderson.

The Red Sox are out to win, and those who saw the game here Saturday say it was the best they had witnessed in some time. The features of the game were the pitching of Holiday, who was master of the game at all times, and the batting of the entire bunch of Red Sox.

Langdale opened with their much-famed southpaw, James, who was rapped on very freely until relieved by Echtor, who hails from Shawmut.

Batteries: Lanett, Red Sox, Holiday and Dickinson; Langdale, James Echtor and Tommie.

For games call or write O. E. Rutland, assistant manager, West Point, Georgia.

IN PHILADELPHIA

Quakertown Clubs Are Topping League, Because They Are Hitting the Ball and Getting Good Hurling

BY JULIAN MURPHEY.

"Red" Dooin has had his troubles in holding his place as manager of the Philadelphia Nationals and the present great work of the club is most conclusive proof that those who backed him in his fight to retain his place were correct in their opinion of him. With the start of the 1911 season there were those who talked of deposing the sorrel-topped catcher but his friends on the club fought for him to the last ditch with the result that he was retained and right now he is showing the wisdom of the move.

WENT BAD IN 1912.

In 1912 the Phillies went badly and Horace Fogel, then president of the club, attempted to place all the blame for the failure of the team upon the shoulders of Dooin. He was making a hot fight against the catcher-manager when driven from organized baseball, this move alone saving Dooin.

The one trouble with the Phillies in 1912 can be placed to injuries. Half the members of the club were out at one time or another and very seldom did Dooin have his full fighting strength in the field. Magee, Dooin, Luderus, Knabe, Paskert and numerous others were out from time to time and the club did not have its real hitting power.

It is not luck that is now carrying the Phillies along at such a hot pace. The team is playing jam up ball in every department. The hurlers are handing out a jam-up article of ball, the batters are clouting the ball hard and often and the club is showing a lot of real head work.

TWO EX-CRACKERS.

With the club you will find two ex-Atlanta players in Outfielder George Paskert and Pitcher Erskine Mayer. Paskert is regarded as one of Dooin's most valuable men while Mayer is improving so fast that he will soon be taking his regular turn on the hill. With the veteran slabbers going as they are now showing there isn't much chance for Mayer to take a regular turn in the box but he is showing class in his few workouts and is being held.

While the Phillies are making history in the National league the Connie Mack club is burning up the American. The fast pace by the Mackmen was entirely expected and if Mack's hurlers will only come through with the class of work there have been delivering of late the Athletics are assured of a high finish, in fact so high that they may be on hand when the world's title is played for.

Just to show how the two Philadelphia clubs are really playing the game you only have to glance at the records. At club batting the Phillies, rank fourth and at that just 12 points back of the Athletics are second in the American, being 26 points back of Cleveland. In club fielding the Athletics top the American League while the Phillies are second in the fielding game. At sacrificing the Phillies are first, at home run hitting second and at fanning rank first.

AFTER GOOD GAME.

The Lithonia ball club is after a game for Saturday.

Manager A. L. Webb is hot on the trail of any Atlanta club seeking a game. Any team wishing to close for a battle can do so by communicating with Manager Webb, at Lithonia.

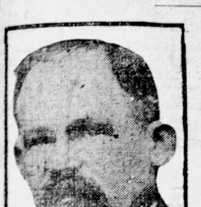
POULTRY, PIGEONS AND LIVE STOCK

Work in the Poultry Yard for June



At this season of the year most breeders have as many little chicks hatched as they can well care for or will need during the coming season. Those who are so fortunate in this respect should select the best hens that they expect to keep for breeders another year and remove them from the breeding pens. Give them a free range, change their feed and let them have a rest. This will get them in shape to moult early so that they can go to producing eggs in September and throughout the entire winter. They will be in much better condition to produce spring chickens for another season if this is done. The male birds should be kept away from them. It is best to dispose of the males except those that you wish to keep for breeding purposes and take no chances on having any bad eggs to supply your customers.

The young chickens should be culled as soon as possible and give the room to the best ones and get them as near matured as possible before hot weather. It pays not to crowd the young, growing chicks, but give them every showing. The high price of feed does not warrant any one keeping a single bird on the premises that is not earning something or that hasn't a bright future. Thousands of people have given up their poultry during the past twelve months on account of high price feed. This is a mistake that will be discovered later by many, and those who will stick to their birds and give them the best of care will reap the benefits as they will find a heavy trade at good prices during the coming winter.

Watch closely for mites and lice among your fowls. Fight them continually and do not let them get the upper hand of you. They will destroy more flesh on your birds than the feed they consume can possibly replace if they are allowed to become infested with insects during the coming summer.

Watch the premises closely for any dead carcass of any kind. Do not depend on burying such but pour some kerosene oil over and burn anything of this character. You cannot afford to take any risk of losing your flock of birds with limberneck, and before you know it you will have this to contend with if any dead carcass are allowed around the place. If you should be so unfortunate as to have this dreaded disease to contend with secure some of Conkey's Limberneck Cure and dose your well and sick birds all alike. Get their systems thoroughly cleansed. If it is not convenient to get the Conkey's Limberneck Cure use one teaspoonful of turpentine to one pint of corn meal made into a stiff dough. The birds that are too far gone to eat should have some of this mixture forced down their throat.

During the latter part of June, especially in south Georgia and Florida once a week one teaspoonful of Epsom salts should be dissolved in some warm water and a corn meal mash made with this mixture for every twelve to fifteen young chicks about frying size. This should be continued until the last of October. This will keep you on the safe side to prevent a heavy loss from sore head.

Chickens should be provided with cool, fresh water several times a day and plenty shade during the hot summer days, and above all things see that they get a sufficient quantity of green food. Do not feed much corn during the summer months. Boiled oats are far superior and are not so heating.

The houses should be thoroughly whitewashed several times during the summer. Keep them clean and comfortable and your birds will continue to lay a reasonable amount of eggs throughout the entire summer.

During the busy days through May and June one is likely to neglect their birds. This will not do. They must be attended to regularly. A few days' neglect will cause a heavy loss that can be overcome only by a lot of hard labor afterwards. Stick to your chickens and do not lose interest in them. They will pay you better than any investment you have if only the profitable ones are retained and the drones are weeded out.

Yours very truly,

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Building Value for Month Close to $800,000, Almost Equal to Last May—Work Started on East Ellis Street Factory, Whitehall Street Sale and Some Lease Items—Start North Moreland Pavement—Many Transfers Filed Today

The value of building permits for May made a surprisingly good showing, as up to noon today they were less than $20,000 behind May, 1912.

This difference will be lessened during the day. Up to noon the value of May, 1913, business was $768,157, against $788,089 for May, 1912.

The biggest permit for the month was for $250,009 for the Y. M. C. A. This was the only permit that exceeded $100,000 in value. Earlier in the month it had been feared that the showing would be much less than last year, but a steady volume of business from day to day prompt us to the assertion.

E. ELLIS STREET ACTIVITY.

Ground has been broken for the erection of a two-story and basement concrete building, 40x100 feet, on the south side of East Ellis street, between Courtland street and Piedmont avenue, for Jessie a Antrim Ice Cream company, Inc., who will move from their present location on Forrest avenue immediately upon completion of their new headquarters.

A ten-year lease has been closed by C. F. R. Fraser and the building is being erected for the especial needs of the business. It will be a model factory of its kind, with every convenience, and Guido & Baldwin have the contract, will push the work to early completion.

With the erection of a large laundry building now under way on the corner of East Ellis and Piedmont, the Piedmont club, and Index Printing company already located on East Ellis between Courtland and Ivy streets, all indications point to the rapid development of this close-in section.

WHITEHALL STREET SALE.

Mrs. Mattie C. Morris has sold to A. Davidson a parcel on Whitehall street, beginning 200 feet north of Hood street, for $13,000, or $260 a front foot.

The lot has a frontage of fifty feet and a depth of 329 feet through to Orange street. A three-eighths interest in the property has been resold to A. A. Doonan.

WADDELL STREET SALE.

W. B. Fraser and W. T. Turman, Black & Calhoun agency, has sold for Mrs. Annie Smith Cheek to W. A. Wilson, No. 72 Waddell street, a two-story eight-room house on a lot 50x150, for $3,500.

LEASE NOTES.

Forrest & George Adair have made the following leases:

For H. J. Lamar to Jaffe & Stowers, No. 34 Auburn avenue, a garage, for a short term.

For J. G. Faron to Mrs. W. H. Edmonds, No. 124 Juniper street, a residence, for $55 a month; for E. H. Barnett to Y. A. Gresham, No. 40 West North avenue, a residence, for $75 a month, and for Mrs. E. K. Van Winkle to J. E. W. Wayman, No. 22 East Third street, for $1,000 a year.

MORELAND AVENUE PAVING.

The contract for paving has been let and work on the pavement of North Moreland avenue from Ponce de Leon avenue to the smooth pavement already laid. The work has been started at Ponce de Leon avenue and is proceeding southward.

This will afford a shorter cut for traffic from the Druid Hills section through Inman Park.

MANY TRANSFERS FILED.

Today's array of property transfers is the largest that has gone to record in several weeks.

Included in the list was a $12,000 acreage deal, and various other new transactions ranging from $2,000 to over $5,000. There was a big volume of warranty deeds, several of which represent cash transactions.

JOURNAL WANT AD HOROSCOPE
JUNE 1.

All persons born from May 29 to June 21 are born under the sign Gemini, which means the twins. This is the head sign of the air triplicity and in all cases these people are double in their natures.

These people are always remarkable because they have a dual nature constantly in active operation, but their genius is best developed when they are educated and are allowed to follow the inclination of their taste in choice of their life work.

The strongest mental feature of these people is their vivid imagination. They may become composers, dramatists and authors.

Their governing planet is Mercury. They need to control their lower natures with great determination. When this is done they rise to any position of power and eminence.

The sign favors The Journal Want Ads in placing of domestics, in traveling and in salesmanship. Business partnerships may be formed and household agreements entered into with profit through The Journal Want Columns this month.

Telephone your ad to The Journal, or ask that it be sent for—whichever is most convenient for you. Main 5000 or Atlanta 5000.

RAISE THEM

Eggs go up as the temperature goes down, and eggs never go down very far these days.

If you've a hankering for nice fresh eggs, for toothsome broilers, for roast chicken later in the year and stewed chicken with dumplings, the thing for you to do is to raise chickens right in your back yard.

Breeders of the finest laying and the best marketing fowls are regular advertisers on The Journal WANT AD pages. They'll sell you the right birds and show you just how to raise more.

You Are Losing $10 a Month

That represents what you might be getting for a part of your office space. You don't have to give up the conveniences in any way. You can get a congenial noncompetitive tenant. The saving will pay one-third of your office rent.

The way to accomplish this is to insert a "Want" Ad in The Journal.

The cost is not great, and with a few insertions the whole city and thousands outside have seen it.

MELBA CELEBRATES QUARTER CENTURY RECORD MAY 24

Nella Melba, the opera singer, celebrates in London her twenty-fifth anniversary on the operatic stage, May 24.

Madame Melba receives $2,500 every time she sings in concert or opera now, which is just twenty-five times as much as she received for a whole week twenty-five years ago.

This photograph was taken last week in London and shows the prima donna as she is today and incidentally y tells that she does not take to the new style of women's dress.

Saving and Investing

WHEN YOU INVEST IN A HOME.
BY JOHN M. OSKISON

NO MATTER what sort of help you want in your factory, office, shop, store or other place of business, there are plenty of men looking for just the sort of work you want done.

They look for your offer day after day in the columns of The Journal WANT AD pages.

You can get the man you want when you want him through a Journal WANT AD.

The average man is fortunate if he can leave to his heirs, when he dies, a home free from mortgage encumbrance and life insurance enough to carry the family along for a few years.

It must, therefore, be important that he should know how to invest his money in home property and life insurance. As to insurance, the business is now so well controlled by law and so thoroughly standardized by the big and solid companies that the average man is not likely to get stung in buying life insurance.

But, unfortunately, home buying for the average man is still a matter of speculation. If he lives in a city, his instinct is to buy a home in a suburb of that city He wants one that he can afford, that is healthful, that is likely to be surrounded by good neighbors, that is near enough to his office to be able him to get to work within a reasonable time and at a reasonable cost. The average man is likely to know as much about what he wants—and no more.

There are other facts which he should take into consideration—quite a number of them. When he starts in search of a home in the suburbs of a city he should be prepared with a series of questions. Answers to the questions should be definite—so definite that they amount to guarantees of the facts. I can suggest only a few of the questions here—the full list would come from the experience of many home owners.

Beyond the factors which I have referred to as important to the average man, there are such matters as the tax rate, the rate for water, gas, and electric light, the cost of keeping up the streets or roads, the provision for sewerage (is it ample to provide for the suburb's future requirements?), the question of schools and churches, the question of restrictions on the character of buildings to be erected, the question of the financial responsibility of the company which is developing the property, and the chance of selling out, if you have to without a loss.

GRAIN GOSSIP

Bartlett, Frazier & Co. say: Wheat—We are inclined to look for a slightly lower market today, as short sellers will probably be disinclined to go over Sunday with conditions southwest as they present themselves this morning.

Corn—The market maintains its undertone of firmness. We look for conditions continue the for the growing crop.

Oats—With the passing of le May delivery today the market will lack any possible strength which has been affected the deferred futures from the strength in tist month. There is considerable difference of opinion regarding amount of damage done to the winter crop. Recent conditions in the way of weather should demonstrate very shortly whether the loss has improved during the past ten days.

Provisions—Market shows a firm undertone and on all good recessions we believe purchases should be made.

The Omaha World-Herald has the following from Hastings, Neb., May 29: "The winter wheat crop is suffering for want of moisture and several fields are already so dry that the blades curl and in a few days more many of them will be so dead they will hurt if there is much hot wind and sun without rain."

Kansas City says: "Crop and wheat region bulletin shows high temperatures all over the wheat belt. Many points over 100 and several over 104."

Chicago closing: Minneapolis cloudy, 70; Terre Haute clear, 80; Peoria clear, 78; Springfield clear, 80; St. Louis clear, 75; Kansas City clear, 76; Omaha clear, 74; Sioux City clear, 74.

Quite a few scattered buying orders in December corn this morning, but failed to get any report which would indicate general improvement in the demand. The fact the extremely high temperatures which have prevailed over the southwest can scarcely have been anything but detrimental to the growing crop, is one anything but bright prices in prospects.

Wheat—Bartlett, Frazier & Co.: Winds here yesterday and today, no prospects of rain."

Wheeler, Miller & Co.: Rain in Kansas yesterday and dry. The wheat is in bad condition.

Logan & Bryan: We expect trade here yesterday and today, no prospects of rain."

COLONEL NO DRINKER, DECLARES HIS COUSIN

Emlen Roosevelt Takes Stand in Roosevelt-Newett Libel Suit in Michigan

(By Associated Press.)

MARQUETTE, Mich., May 31.—Emlen Roosevelt, first cousin of Theodore Roosevelt, who is probably more familiar with the life of the former president than any other of the witnesses in the Roosevelt-Newett libel suit being tried here, testified today to the abstemiousness of the plaintiff.

Mr. Roosevelt was preceded on the stand by Joseph E. Bayleau, of Sault Ste Marie, Mich., who identified the alleged libelous article in the Iron Ore as one he had read. This affirmation was practically all that was required of him, as it was introduced to show that the allegations of drunkenness against Colonel Roosevelt had general circulation.

Emlen Roosevelt said he was fifty-six years old and said that his father and the father of the plaintiff, who were brothers, had been closely associated in business.

The examination was very brief. It was announced there would be an afternoon session of court.

"What has been your association with your cousin?" asked Attorney Pound, for the plaintiff.

"Very intimate. I have been with him for two weeks at a time. When we were boys we lived near each other. Later I was with him on hunting trips. I was with him both times when he was sworn in as president. I made trips with him in the Mayflower, the government boat placed at his service. I have been in a position to know every detail of his public and private life."

NOT A DRINKER.

"What has been your observation through your senses of smell and sight as to whether he was a drinking man?"

"My observation was that he is not a drinker."

"Has he ever been under the influence of liquor?"

"Never, so far as I observed."

"What has been his habit in refernce to profanity?"

"He does not use it."

The witness was excused without cross-examination.

William Loeb, Jr., collector of customs of the port of New York, testified he first met Colonel Roosevelt when the latter became governor of New York. During the seven and one-half years of the Roosevelt administration Mr. Loeb said he was associated with the president first as assistant secretary to him and later as his secretary.

Mr. Loeb said he saw Colonel Roosevelt at president every day, including holidays.

WHAT LOEB SAYS.

"I was in touch with him all his working hours, from 9 a. m. till midnight," said the witness.

"To what extent did he indulge in intoxicants?"

"He was as temperate as any man I ever saw."

"What can you say as to his drinking wine on his trips?"

"Occasionally he took a little wine."

"Did you ever perceive the odor of liquor on his breath?"

"Never."

Asked about state dinners at the White House Mr. Loeb said:

"I attended those dinners, because they were under my charge. Colonel Roosevelt usually drank a little champagne.

The attorney for the plaintiff next directed attention to the reception given by Speaker Cannon on the occasion of his seventieth birthday.

"Did you go with the president to this reception?" asked the lawyer.

"The president, myself and Mr. Sloan, the secret service man, left the White House to go to the dinner at 9 o'clock. I also came home with him.

"What was his condition as to sobriety?" asked Attorney Pound.

"Sober."

"Did you see him take a drink during the hour he was there?"

"I saw him go with the speaker and drink a glass of champagne."

"One?"

"Yes, one."

"Leaving the reception and going to the White House, will you tell the jury whether he was under the influence of liquor?"

"Absolutely not."

Witness referred to a record kept by the White House usher and then testified that Colonel Roosevelt arrived at the White House at 11:20 p. m.

Frank Tyree, United States marshal of the Southern district of West Virginia, who was in the secret service during the Roosevelt administration and who was detailed to accompany the president on various trips, next testified.

"What was your duty?"

"I was detailed to look after the president; to protect him against cranks and to take precautions for his personal safety."

"How close in touch were you with him?"

"Very close; I went with him to banquets, churches, theaters and trains. At Oyster Bay there were eight of us on this duty."

"What was the truth as to his sobriety while you were with him?"

"He always was perfectly sober."

"You never saw him under the influence of liquor?"

"Certainly not," said Tyree sharply.

ONE SMALLOW OF BEER.

Coming to a visit to Milwaukee in 1902, when he was a guest of the Deutscher club, Tyree told how the colonel was pressed to take a glass of beer.

"I do not drink beer," the president said.

"But, this is the drink that made our city famous," it was argued, and as a concession Tyree said the president took one swallow.

Attorney Andrews, on cross examination, brought out answers showing the vigilance exercised by the secret service men. The next witness was James Sloan, a secret service man.

Sloan said he now was detailed to the White House to look after the personal safety of President Wilson, just as he had been assigned to Colonel Roosevelt. At banquets away from the White House, Sloan said, he always knew in advance what was to be served for drinking.

Sloan said he accompanied the president to Mr. Cannon's seventieth birthday anniversary banquet and on that occasion that colonel drank nothing more than one glass of wine. Witness was given only a brief cross examination.

Depositions of Albert Shaw, the editor, George R. Cortelyou, former private secretary to President Roosevelt and later in his cabinet; Lawrence Is. Graham, a newspaper man, and George H. Roosevelt, whose father is a cousin of the plaintiff, were read by Attorney Van Benschoten.

George H. Roosevelt's deposition was ended when court adjourned until 2 p. m.

SMITH'S COMMITTEE TAKES UP PROBE PLANS

Investigation by Committee on Education and Labor Into Mine Conditions Starts

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Consideration of plans for the senate probe of conditions in the strike zone of the West Virginia coal fields was begun today by the senate committee on education and labor.

It is expected that the investigation will be begun by a sub-committee which will visit the strike district and take the testimony of mine owners, strikers and officers of the militia.

A sub committee to take charge of the investigation was appointed with Senator Swanson, of West Virginia, as chairman. Senators Martine, Shields, Borah and Kenyon make up the committee.

No definite plans were formulated today but the sub committee will meet again Monday. It is expected that before the senators go to West Virginia a general investigation will be begun here from documentary evidence concerning the activities of the West Virginia militia after the declaration of martial law.

The committee wants to have a fairly complete record of the legal status of conditions in the strike zone when it visits the affected territory.

Three Youths Hold Up and Rob Members Of Trojan Athletics

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 31.—Three boys each less than seventeen years of age, are under arrest today as bandits, who, with pistols in hand, invaded the Trojan Athletic club last night and lined up fifteen young men for robbery. Several of the victims who refused to hold up their hands were punched in the face. The menacing pistols kept them from punching back.

In all the young bandits got nearly $500 worth of jewelry and money.

They had barely backed out of the club rooms to dart away when an alarm was sounded and the police fell upon them.

SPEYER FIGHTS YOAKUM FOR FRISCO CONTROL

Fight Begins to Have One of Receivers of St. Louis and Frisco Road Deposed

NEW YORK, May 31.—Members of the international banking firm of Speyer & Co. had a conference today with Frederick W. Lehmann, their counsel, to determine a plan of action in a fight to bring about the dismissal of at least one of the receivers appointed for the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad and the substitution of a man to represent the interests of the bondholders.

It was expected that Mr. Lehmann would leave today or tomorrow for St. Louis where receivers are in charge of the road were appointed and that legal proceedings would be begun early next week.

James Speyer has cancelled an intended trip to Europe and will remain here to look after the interests of the holders of the $65,000,000 Frisco bonds which Speyer & Co. floated and for which, it is said, on behalf of the firm, it feels a responsibility.

Dispatches from Paris say that French investors in the bonds are very indignant that the receivers should have been appointed without consulting the bondholders of the road, and proposed to send representatives to this country to follow the reorganization proceedings.

The fact that Speyer & Co. issued a statement, stating that they were "not consulted" in the appointment of the receivers, both of whom are officials of the road, has brought about what is characterized in Wall street as open war*fare between the firm and B. F. Yoakum*, president of the road, and it is predicted that the combined legal contest will amount virtually to a fight to control the Frisco.

Mr. Yoakum is quoted as saying that "the securities of the company are all safe. The stock will be worth more than ever. It will take only a little time to demonstrate this.

The fact that the Frisco's bonded indebtedness far exceeds its outstanding stock issues is, according to Wall street opinion, the chief cause of the road's troubles.

On behalf of the Speyers, it is said that the fate of the bonds, which are a lien ahead of the stock, is the more important question to be determined.

WHEN FRICTION BEGAN.

Friction between Speyer & Co. and Yoakum began a few months ago, it was said, when the firm declined to finance maturing notes for $2,250,000. This brought about the receivership, although the earnings of the road, the bankers said, did not warrant such action.

U. S. GETS $151,957 BY TRUST PROSECUTIONS

Three-Fourths of Original $200,000 Appropriation Paid Back Into Treasury

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Fines imposed by the federal courts against "trusts" during the current fiscal year for alleged violations of the Sherman law, aggregate to-date $151,957, or more than three-fourths of the $200,000 originally appropriated by congress for the year's prosecutions of combinations in restraint of trade. Most of this amount has been paid, and the remainder is the subject of appeal in the courts.

The largest fines of the year in any one case were those imposed a few days ago in the so-called "coaster brake trust" case, aggregating $51,500. Fines assessed in other cases were:

Bath tub trust, $51,907; Portland, Ore., Produce Merchants exchange, $8,451; National Cash Register $5,000; James A. Patton, "cotton pool," $4,000, and the Hunter Milling company of Wellington, Kas., and the Blackwell Mill and Elevator company, of Blackwell, Okla., $2,000.

Some of the fines were levied during the administration of former Attorney General Wickersham and some under the present administration of Attorney General McReynolds, but all the cases were in direct charge of James A. Fowler, assistant to the attorney general, who has broken the records of all other "trust busters" of the government in the number of anti-trust cases lodged in the courts.

The $200,000 originally provided for the enforcement of the Sherman law was recently increased by a $65,000 deficiency appropriation.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 31.—Charles Hubbard, a prize fighter known as "Jumbo" Wells, is dying at the New York hospital from nine bullet wounds, which apparently he received in a duel with an unidentified man early today.

A taxiab in which Hubbard, another man and a woman were riding, left an all-night restaurant on Broadway for a trip to Chinatown. At Thirty-eighth street the cab was stopped and the two men stepped out, armed with pistols.

While the woman looked on, they exchanged shots until Hubbard fell.

His opponent, believed also to have been wounded, got into the cab with the woman and disappeared before witnesses could call the police.

Hubbard is an Australian fighter who came to this country several years ago. He has appeared in most of the local clubs, but has never won any important bouts.

"Jumbo" Wells is well known to Atlanta fight fans, who have seen him in local rings several times during his pugilistic career.

The last fight "Jumbo" experienced in Atlanta he was given a severe lacing by Al Kublak, the Philadelphia policeman, who is one of the favorites among the heavyweights who visit this territory.

It was during the spring of 1912, after the Gate City club had abandoned its first quarters and was staging fights in Harry Staten's club. Kublak made short work of the Australian and put him out in one of the early rounds.

"Jumbo" was not looked upon in Atlanta as a "fighter," as his showing against Kublak was disappointing, and in the opinion of many who saw the fight he forced himself into the class of trainers and seconds who accompanied Carl Morris and stood for a knock-out whenever the Sapulpa giant called for it.

When she was revived at the hospital, Miss Noble charged Kolb with having fired the shot. She probably was fatally wounded.
